TROPHY WINNER — Pam Tillis placed second in National Office Education Skills Competition, winning the trophy that graces her desk at Pickaway Ross Joint Vocational School where she is a student.

Pam Tillis, a junior at the Pickaway-Ross Vocational School, placed second in the National Office Education Skills Competition held in Topeka, Kansas this week.

Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Tillis, Route 7, Bourneville.

She placed second out of 45 students participating in Typing I and Related Skills competition for juniors in the national event.

She qualified for national competition after placing first in Regional 2 and fourth in the state contest. Pam is enrolled in the Clerk-Typist program and her instructor is Patricia Strous, Circleville.

Others attending the conference from Pickaway-Ross were, Brenda Slater Paint Valley, Donald Miller Chillicothe, Mary Isaac Circleville, and chapter advisor Dennis Rine.

The national competition was part of the tenth annual Office Education Association Conference, held in Kansas, May 1-4.

About 4,000 students participated in the conference.

Miss Tillis and Miss Isaac were voting delegates from the state of Ohio at the conference.

Voter Registration Bill Hit By Veto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed a bill to establish statewide, four-year voter registration, contending "this proposal opens to abuse and fraud Ohio's exemplary voting system."

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland, marked the latest in a series of attempts by Democrats over the past several years to require statewide registration. Twenty-two of Ohio's 88 counties have no registration, and four others have only partial systems.

Rhodes said Thursday he agreed with statewide registration, but opposed a provision of Thompson's bill that would permit an individual to go four consecutive years without voting before his registration is canceled. Current law requires election officials to drop from the rolls anyone who has not voted at least once in the preceding two years.

The Republican governor said election officials in metropolitan counties estimate 20 to 30 per cent of those listed as qualified voters are ineligible through death, change of address or some other reason.

"By doubling the length of time to four years, the chance of voter fraud and the per cent of inaccuracy will also increase," Rhodes said.

He also objected to a section calling for longer hours for boards of elections because of the cost to local government. And the cost of implementing full registration by 1977 as mandated by the bill would be $300,000, Rhodes said.

Mrs. Peron To Face Charges

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — An investigating judge has filed preliminary charges of misusing public funds against ex-President Isabel Peron and three of her closest associates, the official Telam news agency reports.

The indictments ordered by Judge Nino J. Garcia Moritan named Juan D. Peron's 44-year-old widow; Jose Lopez Rega, the chief power in her regime until the military and the unions forced her to fire him last summer; his son-in-law, Raul Lastiri, who was president of the lower house of Congress, and Lastiri's wife, Norma.

Mrs. Peron has been under house arrest at a mountain resort in southern Argentina since leaders of the armed forces overthrew her on March 24. Top officers have been at odds over what to do with her, military sources said.

Lopez Rega is believed to be in Spain, and extradition proceedings have been started. The Lastiris are being held on a prison ship in Buenos Aires harbor.

Death Toll Rises In Quake

VENICE, Italy (AP)—About 300 persons were believed killed in an earthquake that jolted northeast Italy Thursday night. Strong tremors were felt in at least six other countries, causing panic among millions, but there were no reports of casualties or major damage outside of Italy.

In addition to the area of Italy rocked by the quake, there were tremors in sections of Yugoslavia, Austria, Czechoslovakia, West Germany, The Netherlands and Belgium. Hundreds of Belgians fled from high-rise apartment houses.

Italy's quake devastated dozens of towns and villages in the Tagliamento River Valley near the Yugoslav border. Major Italian cities did not suffer heavy damage or casualties.

National police headquarters in Rome said 187 bodies had been recovered in 19 towns, but several villages nestled in the foothills of the Alps were still cut off.

A police spokesman said most of the damage was in towns and villages along both sides of the Tagliamento, which flows from the eastern Alps into the Adriatic some 40 miles northeast of Venice.

Two more tremors struck the area this morning, but there were no reports of casualties or damage.

A few chimneys were knocked down in Venice and thousands rushed to the Piazza San Marco and other open spaces seeking safety, but no casualties or major damage was reported there or in other major cities.

The worst casualty toll was reported in Maiano, a town of 1,900 about four miles from the river and 11 miles from the district capital of Udine, where officials set up a command center.

Police said a series of sharp tremors killed 58, injured 300 and destroyed half the homes in Maiano. The town's mayor said the dead included a young girl crushed when a Renaissance bell tower fell.

The U.S. Air Force sent six helicopters with 10 medical officers, stretchers and other supplies from the air base at Vicenza to the quake area.

Italian army trucks carried troops into the area to begin digging through the rubble. They were joined by fire brigade vehicles and commercial bulldozers pressed into service.

The national police in Rome said the quake leveled Forgaria, a town of 4,000, and destroyed a quarter to a half of the buildings in the towns of Buia, Osoppo, San Pietro di Ramogna and Collaredo.

Interior Minister Francesco Cossiga worked through the night in Rome coordinating rescue work. Troops, police, firemen and volunteers were rushed to the disaster area from hundreds of miles away.

Authorities in Udine, a city of 90,000 about 15 miles east of the Tagliamento, ordered all doctors in the area mobilized and made urgent appeals for blood. They said damaged hospitals were unable to handle the flood of injured.

The quake collapsed dozens of bridges and sent tons of rock and earth crashing onto roads in the area.

Both the unemployment rate and

The earth shocks also damaged an oil pipeline from West Germany to Trieste, on the Adriatic 35 miles east of the Tagliamento. Technicians stopped the oil flow after signals that a leak had developed.

The quake struck about 9 p.m. as many Europeans were watching television. Millions of Italians fled to the countryside in panic, choking the highways.

The quake was felt most strongly in the area from Bolzano in the Alps down to the northern edge of Rome, and from Trieste on the Yugoslav border to Turin near the French border. The intensity decreased from north and east to the west and south.

Walls shook and furniture trembled in many parts of Austria and Czechoslovakia.

The Swedish earthquake agency in Uppsala said the quake registered between 6.5 and 6.9 on the Richter scale, which measures ground motion. A quake registering 4 on the scale can cause moderate damage in populated areas, 6 can be severe and 7 means a major earthquake capable of widespread, heavy damage.

The National Earthquake Center in Golden, Colo., measured Thursday night's quake at 6.5 on the Richter scale.

The epicenter of the quake was located in the German Alps south of Munich by the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington and in Northern Italy by the University of California. But an earthquake measuring center in Vienna said the epicenter was near Udine.

Jobless Figures Show Slowdown In U.S. Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady in April at 7.5 per cent, ending five straight months of decline, the government said today.

The leveling off of the jobless rate indicated further improvement will be more difficult in the months ahead.

A bright spot in the job report was that total employment jumped by another 700,000 in April to a new high of 87.4 million, a sign of strong business growth.

However, because the number of Americans finding work nearly offset the big increase in job seekers last month, the jobless rate was unchanged. In April, another 720,000 went looking for work, raising the size of the civilian labor force to 94.4 million.

Despite the growth in jobs, the number of unemployed totaled about 7 million last month, the Labor Department said. Although this was substantially below the recession peak of 8.3 million in May 1975, joblessness remains very high by postwar standards.

Unemployment declined in March for the fifth month in a row to seven million persons, or 7.5 per cent of the labor force.

The March decline was slight — one-inflation have improved dramatically since last October, but administration officials have repeatedly warned that the dramatic gains could not be sustained.

In advance of the report, Maynard Comiez, the Commerce Department's acting chief economist, said there is little indication of any further sharp declines in the jobless rate this year.

"Whatever improvement we're going to get will be very slow unless the economy really continues to advance quite rapidly, resulting in large increases in employment that would offset the normal increase in the labor force," he said.

Comiez and other government economists also say they wouldn't be surprised if the jobless rate edged up slightly to compensate for what may have been an over-adjustment in factoring out seasonal influences earlier this year.

The March decline was slight — one-tenths of 1 per cent. It capped a steady decline from 8.6 per cent last October and an over-all improvement of 1.4 per cent since the recession peak of 8.9 per cent last May.

The spate of good economic news this year was broken Thursday when the Labor Department reported that wholesale prices surged eight-tenths of 1 per cent in April after five months of nearly stable prices.

The White House sought to minimize the significance of the increase. Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the increase in a single month such as April was "not a particular cause of concern."

Nevertheless, it signalled the beginning of substantial increases ahead across a wide range of products at both the wholesale and retail level.

Inflation had slowed to under 3 per cent in the first quarter, largely due to declines in food and fuel prices which were expected to be temporary.

Farm prices, which jumped 4.2 per cent last month after sharp declines, were mostly to blame for the wholesale price surge.

Women's Bicentennial Unit Plans Heritage Days June 5-6

Pickaway County Heritage Days, a Bicentennial project of the Women's Bicentennial Committee, will be held June 5-6 at the County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Women's Bicentennial Committee began plans in January for a Bicentennial Bazaar but in the past few months the project has grown immensely and now will be incorporated with Heritage Days under the direction of the entire Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission.

Heritage Days is geared for a family fun weekend. Pickaway County Fairgrounds will be used to accommodate the event. The entire coliseum will be filled with craftsmen, young and old alike including high school students, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Senior Citizens, County Granges, Garden Clubs, Art League, Guilds, Clubs, Extension Homemakers. There will be approximately 50 organizations all working together on the bazaar.

What originally was planned to raise money has now made a turn towards looking back at the county's heritage and bringing out what is left through local people.

On June 5 the time is from 1 to 6 p.m. at the coliseum for the bazaar and craft demonstrations. At 7 p.m. a family square dance is scheduled. On June 6 the hours are from 1 to 6 p.m. at the coliseum and at 7 p.m. the event will conclude with an old fashioned auction.

During both days there will be a cakewalk each half-hour, with the final one at 5:30 p.m. The cakes will be donated by champion cake bakers in Pickaway County.

There will be live entertainment including a baby animal farm for the younger set. For the child who wants to do his own thing, he can roast his own hotdog under the supervision of a 4-H Club member. Fresh homemade ice cream topped with strawberries will be a special treat. There will be games and contests and many other activities still in the planning stages.

The purpose of the Women's Committee in holding the bazaar was to raise money to erect a monument to Grenadier Squaw to be located in Logan Elm State Park. Plans for erecting the monument will still be carried out.

The exact words of Thomas H. Smith, director of the Ohio Historical Society were: "Certainly the placement of the monument to Grenadier Squaw at the Logan Elm Park would be fitting since she was as much of the Cornstalk-Dunmore story as anyone."

There is much to be said about this stalwart Shawnee princess, who was a sister of Chief Cornstalk. She was known by many names but received the name of Grenadier Squaw from the French soldiers. It was given to her because of her size, regal bearing, muscular strength, and intellect. At a time in history when women were not regarded as equals, nor respected, let alone an Indian, this woman was able to prove her abilities. She spoke three languages, accepted the Christian religion and was baptized, a rich ruling chief, and interpreter and intermediary between the white and the Indians. Because of her service to the white people as a peacemaker, she was shunned by her own people and was left to wander from fort to fort. On Feb. 24, the Pickaway County Bicentennial Women's Organization and interested individuals voted to commemorate this woman as a bicentennial project.

For other individuals or organizations wishing to participate in Heritage Days information may be obtained by calling 474-4555.

But more New York Stock Exchange issues were advancing in price than declining.

At the start of trading, the government reported that the unemployment rate held steady in April at 7.5 per cent, after five straight months of decline.

On Thursday, the government said wholesale prices had risen at an annual rate of 9.6 per cent in April, adding to inflation and interest rate worries on Wall Street.

Early prices today included American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/4 to 57 3/4; U.S. Steel, down 1/4 to 81; and Otis Elevator, up 3/4 to 45 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.07 to 989.53.

Advancing New York Stock Exchange issues held a 7-6 edge on those declining.

Volume on the Big Board reached 16.20 million shares, compared with 14.97 million the day before.

The NYSE composite index of all its listed common stocks picked up .16 to 53.86.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .26 to 102.32.

Pentagon Meat Purchases Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee is issuing 14 subpoenas in its investigation of alleged payoffs and other irregularities in the Pentagon's $250-million-a-year meat-purchasing program.

The panel is studying allegations by congressional investigators that some Army meat inspectors received cash, gifts and even sexual favors for approving substandard beef shipments, Senate sources said Thursday.

The subpoenas, issued by a government operations subcommittee, cover individuals, books and records of meat processing firms that did business with the Pentagon, according to chairman Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., and Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., the ranking minority leader.

Immunity against possible prosecution has also been granted by the subcommittee to a former official of one of the meat processing firms in exchange for his testimony, it was learned.

Three days of hearings are scheduled for next week by the subcommittee on federal spending and efficiency, culminating a nine-month investigation by the panel into alleged fraud and corruption in military meat purchasing.

Among those to be called to testify are Army meat inspectors who allegedly accepted gratuities from government meat suppliers, sources said.

Chiles said abuses uncovered thus far in the probe point to a "massive taxpayer rip-off that's apparently been going on for years in military meat purchases."

He said nationwide spot audits showed that 80 per cent of 1.5 million pounds of meat purchased by the Pentagon and destined for mess tables on military bases did not conform with military specifications.

The military buys about 100 million pounds of beef each year, spending about $250 million annually.

Subcommittee investigators last July intercepted a military beef shipment at the Norfolk, Va., Naval Station and found hair, hide, metal chips and a fly in it. The incident led to subsequent checks at military installations in Florida and Texas and then to the nationwide audit conducted by Senate investigators and General Accounting Office auditors. The GAO is an investigatory wing of Congress.

In most cases, "substandard" meat was so designated because it involved cheaper cuts than the Pentagon had paid for, was underweight or contained excessive tendon or fat.

Sources said the congressional investigators found allegations that some government meat contractors offered cash, free trips, appliances and even in some instances the services of prostitutes to military meat inspectors to approve the substandard meat shipments.

The information has been turned over to the Justice Department, which is conducting its own probe of the allegations, subcommittee aides said.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today after its mild rally Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off a fraction after opening trades.

But more New York Stock Exchange issues were advancing in price than declining.

At the start of trading, the government reported that the unemployment rate held steady in April at 7.5 per cent, after five straight months of decline.

On Thursday, the government said wholesale prices had risen at an annual rate of 9.6 per cent in April, adding to inflation and interest rate worries on Wall Street.

Early prices today included American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/8 to 57 3/4; U.S. Steel, down 1/4 to 81; and Otis Elevator, up 3/4 to 45 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.07 to 989.53.

Advancing New York Stock Exchange issues held a 7-6 edge on those declining.

Volume on the Big Board reached 16.20 million shares, compared with 14.97 million the day before.

The NYSE composite index of all its listed common stocks picked up .16 to 53.86.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .26 to 102.32.

Cross Burnings Hit Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was 1:35 a.m. when the sound of running footsteps awakened Melva Wright to an orange glow at the window. A cross was burning on her lawn.

The 29-year-old black woman living in a white neighborhood of suburban La Mirada on Thursday became the latest target in a wave of racial attacks which have alarmed authorities and spread fear through integrated neighborhoods.

The FBI, concerned about possible civil rights violations, entered the case after four cross burnings, an effigy hanging and the skinning of a cat were reported in the Los Angeles area.

In Redondo Beach, where two of the cross burnings occurred, the police department has diverted its entire intelligence unit to the case.

"It has our top priority because of the social implications," said Redondo Beach Police Sgt. Tom Doty.

Los Angeles County officials see the cross burnings as an anachronism — an act of bigotry connected with other decades and other regions of the country.

But civil rights leaders, who demand action to stop the incidents, say the incidents are an inevitable fallout from a stormy season of politics across the nation.

"I think it is strictly political," said Joseph Grimmet, vice president of the local NAACP. "These people aren't concerned about whether one black person moves into a white neighborhood. What they hope to have is a political influence."

Marnesba Tackett, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Los Angeles, was more specific.

"Busing is just a code word against integration," she said, noting that the issue of busing school children out of segregated areas has entered the presidential campaign.

The civil rights groups, joined in a United Emergency Action Committee, took the issue to the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors this week.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A new approach may be necessary in some areas, in order to cope with unusual circumstances but day, on the whole, should prove stimulating, satisfying.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Once you know that your ideas have good potentialities, lose no time in trying to bring them to realization. Good planetary influences should help you.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Dedication to obligations will pay - especially when you have resisted the temptation to veer off, let things go. Inventiveness, originality stimulated.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Admonitions for this day: Don't be so overly cautious that you lose out on advantages and don't rely on help from others. This will be a period when your own grit must see you through.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Good stellar influences favor a new approach to difficult problems, consolidation of gains made in the past. Start looking now - for improved returns.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Matters on the immediate agenda should be taken care of as expected. Give a little where it would ease tensions, but not at the expense of principles.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You have an exceptionally good planetary set-up now but must toe the line, nevertheless, to avoid friction with those who are not in so comfortable a spot.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A special way of saying the right thing at the right time will be rewarding. Be cognizant of "tricky" situations and handle as required.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your perceptions may need some keening now. Be sure to take all factors into account when sizing up unexpected circumstances.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Single-handedly you can institute improvements in many areas, tie up loose ends and plan new undertakings, but minor matters may tend to distract: Don't let them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: personal relationships, avocational interests, travel plans and outdoor pursuits. A good day!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. You can hold your own through thoughtful management - plus a dash of imagination. Take possible changes of plan in stride.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality; are enterprising, gifted in leadership and business acumen. You are not as creative or artistic as most other Taureans, but you find fulfillment striving for goals of a more material nature. And you can achieve them! Your ideas are progressive and you are never happier than when producing. Thus, many benefit from your enterprises and, no matter what your calling, will follow happily in your wake. You love power and, unless an underdeveloped Taurean, will never misuse it. You would make an excellent lawyer, statesman, financier or investment broker; could also succeed as a physician or head of an institution devoted to human welfare. Where art is concerned, you are more inclined to be a patron than a creator. Birthdate of: Harry S. Truman, 33rd Pres., U.S.A.

When a revivalist movement swept over all Ohio religious denominations in 1857-1858, future President of the United States James A. Garfield conducted meetings, preached 27 sermons in 27 days and converted seven students.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A new approach may be necessary in some areas, in order to cope with unusual circumstances but day, on the whole, should prove stimulating, satisfying.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Once you know that your ideas have good potentialities, lose no time in trying to bring them to realization. Good planetary influences should help you.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Dedication to obligations will pay - especially when you have resisted the temptation to veer off, let things go. Inventiveness, originality stimulated.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Admonitions for this day: Don't be so overly cautious that you lose out on advantages and don't rely on help from others. This will be a period when your own grit must see you through.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Good stellar influences favor a new approach to difficult problems, consolidation of gains made in the past. Start looking now - for improved returns.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Matters on the immediate agenda should be taken care of as expected. Give a little where it would ease tensions, but not at the expense of principles.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You have an exceptionally good planetary set-up now but must toe the line, nevertheless, to avoid friction with those who are not in so comfortable a spot.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A special way of saying the right thing at the right time will be rewarding. Be cognizant of "tricky" situations and handle as required.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your perceptions may need some keening now. Be sure to take all factors into account when sizing up unexpected circumstances.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Single-handedly you can institute improvements in many areas, tie up loose ends and plan new undertakings, but minor matters may tend to distract. Don't let them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: personal relationships, avocational interests, travel plans and outdoor pursuits. A good day!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. You can hold your own through thoughtful management - plus a dash of imagination. Take possible changes of plan in stride.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality; are enterprising, gifted in leadership and business acumen. You are not as creative or artistic as most other Taureans, but you find fulfillment striving for goals of a more material nature. And you can achieve them! Your ideas are progressive and you are never happier than when producing. Thus, many benefit from your enterprises and, no matter what your calling, will follow happily in your wake. You love power and, unless an underdeveloped Taurean, will never misuse it. You would make an excellent lawyer, statesman, financier or investment broker; could also succeed as a physician or head of an institution devoted to human welfare. Where art is concerned, you are more inclined to be a patron than a creator. Birthdate of: Harry S. Truman, 33rd Pres., U.S.A.

When a revivalist movement swept over all Ohio religious denominations in 1857-1858, future President of the United States James A. Garfield conducted meetings, preached 27 sermons in 27 days and converted seven students.

Mother

There have been eras in world history when the responsibilities of motherhood and the dangers of rearing a family were such that it would have been little wonder if the instinct for that high function had been discouraged.

Today, mothers are accepting more responsibilities while modern methods and customs become more intricate. They have problems adjusting fresh young lives to the neighborhood to say nothing of trends in the world about which they can do little.

In the field where mother has sway, she must bring to her task more preparation than she ever needed before. People live closer together, the requirements of human relations and social adjustments are always present and no evasion is possible without risk of warping young lives.

In this task mother needs not only her own skills but all the help possible from the husband and father. The penalties of failure are acute but the rewards are the most coveted of all earthly offerings—the growth to adulthood of well-balanced children who will themselves rear offspring able to cope with modern life.

And that is the basic hope of a better world.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 7, the 128th day of 1976. There are 238 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, at the end of World War II in Europe, the Germans signed unconditional surrender terms at General Dwight D. Eisenhower's temporary headquarters at Rheims, France.

On this date:

In 1939, the military and political alliance known as the Rome-Berlin Axis was announced by Germany and Italy.

In 1943, Allied forces in World War II won a major victory in North Africa as Tunis and Bizerte were liberated.

In 1960, Moscow announced that an American pilot shot down over the Soviet Union, Francis Gary Powers, would be put on trial as a spy.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed a treaty with the Soviet Union and other space powers outlawing military activity on the moon and denying anyone lunar sovereignty.

Five years ago: The United States removed all controls on the use of dollars in U.S. transactions with mainland China.

One year ago: Two West German ships trapped in the Suez Canal since the 1967 Arab-Israeli War were freed and steamed into Port Said, Egypt under their own power.

Today's birthdays: Actress Anne Baxter is 53. Poet Archibald MacLeish is 84.

Thought for today: Miracles sometimes occur, but one has to work terribly hard for them — Chaim Weizmann, Zionist leader, 1874-1952.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the colonial revolutionary committee in Pennsylvania urged people to sell their lead clock weights and other lead for six pence per pound, to be converted into musket balls.

The Boy Wonders

By JIM BISHOP

Alexander Butterfield was in charge of White House "internal security." The youngsters begged Sam Dash, majority counsel of the Ervin Committee, to subpoena Butterfield and pin-point what "internal security" might mean.

Dash had more important witnesses. Twice he rejected the suggestion. When he called Butterfield to testify under oath, Sam learned that "internal security" meant that Butterfield was in charge of the President's taping equipment.

The President had bugged himself. To my way of thinking, this was the big break of the story. And yet, when Woodward and Bernstein told their editor about it, he rated it "B plus" — somewhat unimportant.

The fact that Nixon did not burn all the tapes that evening must be one of the monumental mistakes of history. Ehrlichman didn't know about the tapes. Neither did Kissinger.

It was after that revelation that heads began to roll: Colson, Haldeman, Kleindienst, Ehrlichman, Chapin, Mitchell, Stans, Gray, Magruder, Segretti — an interminable list of persons close to the seat of power.

When the President resigned, the reporters wrote a book, "All the President's Men." It made a mint of money. Robert Redford made a movie of it. This earned more money for the young men. They became rich.

Count me as one who appreciates the book, but not the picture. Redford made a cinematic detective story of the material, which is okay if you wish to spend two hours watching reporters buck the odds as they scamper from clue to clue.

The movie isn't about the White House. The title "All the President's Men" is absurd. After all the tedium of knocking on doors which keep slamming, Redford and Dustin Hoffman begin to reach into the White House to involve Bob Haldeman as the picture comes to an end.

"Woodstein," as the reporters are now called, have written a second book: "The Final Days." This one is more compelling than the first. It is an exciting reconstruction of what went on in the White House throughout the last 100 days of the Nixon Administration.

To do the research, the authors required the collaboration of many of the rats Nixon trusted. On the assumption that there was nothing further to lose, former officials talked and talked. So did clerks and secretaries.

Some of the 300 persons who gave information are now denying all. This cannot be a shock to the reporters, because anyone in this business has heard the words, "I'll tell you how it happened, but if anybody traces it back to me, I'll deny I ever spoke to you."

It's part of the profession. For example, the scene depicting Nixon, crushed and babbling, begging Kissinger to kneel with him in the little Lincoln sitting room to pray, is a two-person scene. Who could possibly have reconstructed it?

The authors have also been faulted for stating that Mrs. Nixon had no intimate relations with her husband since 1962. She told someone, and that someone told someone else. Woodward and Bernstein do not overemphasize it. They state it bluntly, precisely as they wrote, in one sentence, that Mrs. Nixon was seen filling a tumbler with bourbon.

The whole portrait of Mrs. Nixon excites sympathy and understanding. She stood by her husband even after she knew he lied to her about his guilt.

As a cynic, I smile at all the furor. I know that the boy wonders of journalism are going to earn more money outside the White House than Richard Nixon did in it . . .

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can hoarseness be a sign of cancer?
Mr. H. G., Ark.

Dear Mr. G.:

Hoarseness, like fever or pain, is the body's method of calling attention to its needs.

Yes, hoarseness can be an early symptom of cancer. But there are many other reasons for hoarseness that are far less serious.

The vocal cords are two strands of muscular tissue, about an inch long. They lie in the larynx, or the "voice box."

The vocal cords come together during speech. They separate while breathing. Anything that interferes with the vocal cords coming together in tight contact during vibration causes hoarseness.

Temporary swelling after an upper respiratory infection, nodules, polyps and tumors can produce hoarseness.

Vocal abuse and excessive smoking can also produce hoarseness.

Since there are so many other reasons for hoarseness it is unrealistic for people to assume that their condition is dangerous or cancerous.

Examination of the larynx is a very simple procedure. It is done rapidly and can immediately eliminate the fears associated with hoarseness.

Anyone with prolonged hoarseness should have the cause investigated. Only in this way can the early detection of all disease be possible.

One of our neighbors is a vegetarian. He told my husband that barley, flax, sesame, alfalfa and strained honey are the best cure for cataracts and glaucoma. Now my husband won't go to his eye doctor. What do you think?

Mrs. L. D., Maine

Dear Mrs. D.:

The greatest hurdle that medicine and science must overcome is ignorance. Sometimes it is virtually impossible to displace people from their fixed ideas about the causes and the cures of disease.

Many vegetarian concepts about food are extremely valuable and have scientific validity. In this instance, it is not vegetarianism that is to be condemned, but rather the presumptuousness of a particular person to tamper with the health and the vision of another. Your husband must be made to see the dangers of such nonsense.

The Boy Wonders

By JIM BISHOP

That roar of applause for Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein comes from the calloused mits of thousands of American editors. Two cub reporters, often more frightened than their quarry, toppled the White House.

They broke the Watergate story. The prestigious White House press corps literally sat on its hands when press secretary Ron Ziegler dismissed the incident as "a third-rate burglary."

The only backing the young men received from their newspaper, The Washington Post, was permission to remain on the assignment. There were days and weeks when Watergate appeared to be at a dead end.

At other times, when they had a fresh lead, their executive editor, Ben Bradlee, demanded additional sources of information. He knew that no reporter, no matter how young and innocent, will go to press with a story that is less than "solid."

They wondered, for example, why

Alexander Butterfield was in charge of White House "internal security." The youngsters begged Sam Dash, majority counsel of the Ervin Committee, to subpoena Butterfield and pin-point what "internal security" might mean.

Dash had more important witnesses. Twice he rejected the suggestion. When he called Butterfield to testify under oath, Sam learned that "internal security" meant that Butterfield was in charge of the President's taping equipment.

"But, Mother, it says to separate four eggs."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can hoarseness be a sign of cancer?
Mr. H. G., Ark.

Dear Mr. G.: Hoarseness, like fever or pain, is the body's method of calling attention to its needs.

Yes, hoarseness can be an early symptom of cancer. But there are many other reasons for hoarseness that are far less serious.

The vocal cords are two strands of muscular tissue, about an inch long. They lie in the larynx, or the "voice box."

The vocal cords come together during speech. They separate while breathing. Anything that interferes with the vocal cords coming together in tight contact during vibration causes hoarseness.

Temporary swelling after an upper respiratory infection, nodules, polyps and tumors can produce hoarseness.

Vocal abuse and excessive smoking can also produce hoarseness.

Since there are so many other reasons for hoarseness it is unrealistic for people to assume that their condition is dangerous or cancerous.

Examination of the larynx is a very simple procedure. It is done rapidly and can immediately eliminate the fears associated with hoarseness.

Anyone with prolonged hoarseness should have the cause investigated. Only in this way can the early detection of all disease be possible.

One of our neighbors is a vegetarian. He told my husband that barley, flax, sesame, alfalfa and strained honey are the best cure for cataracts and glaucoma. Now my husband won't go to his eye doctor. What do you think?

Dear Mrs. D.: The greatest hurdle that medicine and science must overcome is ignorance. Sometimes it is virtually impossible to displace people from their fixed ideas about the causes and the cures of disease.

Many vegetarian concepts about food are extremely valuable and have scientific validity. In this instance, it is not vegetarianism that is to be condemned, but rather the presumptuousness of a particular person to tamper with the health and the vision of another. Your husband must be made to see the dangers of such nonsense.

FDA Ponders Easing Ban On Cyclamate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration is weighing a recommendation that would partially lift the government's 1969 ban on the sugar substitute cyclamate, restricting it to use as a tabletop sweetener.

Although Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt has not announced his decision, an informed industry source said it is likely to go against the artificial sweetener that became the foundation of a $1 billion-a-year business before the cyclamate cancer scare.

FDA general counsel Richard A. Merrill, in an April 20 internal memo written after a meeting with representatives of Abbott Laboratories last month, said the FDA's Bureau of Foods "was recommending that cyclamate be approved only as a tabletop sweetener."

The Merrill memo, obtained under the Freedom of Information Act, added that the commissioner "had expressed concern about several statements" in the National Cancer Institute Advisory Panel's report "relating to Down's Syndrome (mongolism) chromosomal damage and other effects attributed to or associated with cyclamate in various studies."

FDA sources said this week that the commissioner's cyclamate decision might come sometime during the latter half of May, but they cautioned against speculating that cyclamate would return to the market.

Abbott Laboratories, armed with several new animal feeding studies, petitioned the FDA in November, 1973, to approve cyclamate.

French Gave Crucial Help In Revolutionary War

EDITOR'S NOTE — King Louis XVI of France expected to benefit by helping America win the Revolution. But the trade ties he expected never materialized, and, in the end, American democracy hastened the downfall of French royalty.

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer

When the last great battle of the American Revolution was fought at Yorktown, the British troops surrendered by marching between two lines of soldiers. On one side were Americans, on the other French.

The French role in the Revolution is also marked by names: The small Vermont town of Vergennes, Lafayette Park across from the White House, Lafayette, Ind., and Rochambeau Bridge linking Washington and Arlington, Va. Nearly all residents of the area call the span the 14th Street Bridge.

That inattention is unfair, not only to the commander of the 8,000 French troops who fought in the Revolution, but to the contribution the French made. Independence might not have been won without them.

The crucial need for French assistance was seen early by most Americans. The aim of colonial diplomacy was to get France into the war.

From the beginning of the rebellion, France and Frenchmen sympathized with the Americans and gave them help. The first secret loan was authorized by Louis XVI 200 years ago this week.

In spite of his reluctance to formally violate the rules of neutrality, Louis XVI arranged to send at least $1 million in military equipment and supplies to the colonies before 1778, the year France finally sent troops. He went on to give $1.6 million in grants and $6.4 million in loans, considerable sums in those days.

Of even more help was the decision to allow American privateers and naval vessels to use French ports.

During the first stages of the war, many Frenchmen came to America to fight with the rebels.

A 34-year-old engineer, the Chevalier Duportail, became one of George Washington's chief designers of fortifications.

The Frenchman best remembered and most honored is, of course, the Marquis de Lafayette, who arrived in 1777. He was 19, and he proved a brave and competent soldier. Washington soon made him a major general. But Lafayette's greatest contribution was political, not military.

In 1779, when the Continental Army was shrinking and Americans were resisting enlistment, Lafayette returned to France and persuaded the king to send the Comte de Rochambeau and 6,000 soldiers to fight. It was Rochambeau and his men who stood with Washington at Yorktown.

There was a pragmatic reason for French aid to the Americans that went beyond the business opportunities that were obtained and the sympathy in France for the American cause. France had lost its last war to Britain and the European balance of power had shifted greatly in favor of London. The American Revolution gave Louis XVI and his foreign minister, Comte de Vergennes, an opportunity to fish in troubled waters and to perhaps right the balance.

Because of the weakened nature of the French military, Paris decided to stay formally neutral while giving the rebels as much help as possible until the British had been sufficiently hurt.

The decision that the time had come for a direct role was made when the Americans won at Saratoga, N.Y., on Oct. 17, 1777.

Benjamin Franklin convinced

Vergennes that the loss might lead the British to seek a compromise that would restore the empire.

The two men worked out a pair of treaties, one for trade and the other a military alliance. They were initiated Feb. 6, 1778.

News traveled slowly then, and the treaties didn't reach New York until May 2, arriving just in time to head off negotiations between Americans and British to end the fighting.

The joy that greeted the French involvement soon changed to despair. While French aid increased, major military help was slow in coming.

A French fleet commanded by the brave but stupid Admiral D'Estaing didn't reach Delaware until July 8. His efforts were ineffective anyway, and he soon sailed for the West Indies.

D'Estaing returned the following spring and again achieved nothing. In fact, in October 1779, D'Estaing bungled a fight at Savannah, Ga., and returned in disgrace to France.

There was no easing of the bitter American mood until the summer of 1780, when Rochambeau landed at Newport, R.I., with 6,000 troops.

Then came a key development. A new French fleet under the capable DeGrasse broke the British blockade in March 1781 and landed 3,000 more troops.

On May 21, 1781, Washington and Rochambeau met in a small Connecticut town and decided the time was right for a decisive battle. Fooling the British, they bypassed the expected target of New York City and headed for Virginia and the large British army commanded by Gen. Charles Cornwallis.

In a beautifully coordinated movement, the Washington-Rochambeau force moved down the coast as DeGrasse broke the British naval hold on Chesapeake Bay.

They all joined forces on Sept. 17 and began the siege of Yorktown 11 days later.

When the American band played "The World Turned Upside Down" as the British surrendered, everyone thought it a truly appropriate signal for a new order.

For the new United States of America it turned out to be right on the mark. But for the French it was ironic.

All they got out of the war were some West Indies islands and the return of their African colony of Senegal.

The investment opportunities in the new nation didn't develop, and French businessmen soon found they couldn't get their goods into the American market. By 1785, Britain had become the leading trade partner with her former colonies.

But the greatest irony resulting from the French contribution was that it created a model democracy — a model that helped to destroy the French system in 1789.

Public Law Firm Backs Free Enterprise

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — They might be called the conservative's store-front lawyers.

That's probably the best way to describe the 12 staff attorneys of the Pacific Legal Foundation, a public interest law firm with a twist.

While other public interest lawyers battle on the side of environmentalists or welfare groups, Pacific usually finds itself aligned with developers and welfare watchdogs.

"We are the only public interest law firm that is supportive of free enterprise and private property," says Ronald Zumbun, the foundation's legal director. "We feel you have to give equal weight to environmental, social and economic situations when you make a decision."

Organized three years ago, Pacific has rolled up a respectable record as a spokesman for what it believes are the views of most Americans.

It has gone to court to support welfare restrictions it considers legitimate and to attack environmental controls and growth limitation it views as unrealistic.

"We feel that governments have the right to impose reasonable restrictions on growth," says Zumbun, "But they cannot do it with their heads in the sand."

In the some 45 cases the foundation has been involved, it has been on the losing side in only one that has gone to final judgment.

It suffered setbacks in two cases still under appeal and credits itself with 25 victories, although Zumbun says a few of those victories could still be appealed.

The remaining cases are awaiting action.

The foundation was incorporated in March 1973 as a nonprofit, public-interest law firm, the outgrowth of a conversation between Zumbun and Roy A. Green Jr., then a California Chamber of Commerce official and now Pacific's administrator.

The foundation's initial staff consisted of Zumbun, Green and two secretaries. Its first-year budget was $240,000.

The projected budget for this year is $1.2 million, and its staff of 12 attorneys includes two in a Washington office.

Zumbun says about 60 per cent of Pacific's funds come from foundations and small donors. The rest are from businesses and various organizations.

Pacific was founded with the chamber's blessing, and although it is not affiliated with the chamber, its ties with the business community are strong.

Ten of its board members are officials with major business firms, and the board chairman, David James, is a partner with Arthur Young & Co., one of the nation's eight largest accounting firms.

Although the foundation frequently finds itself allied with business interests, it's not a "front" for the business community, Zumbun says.

"We are supportive of free enterprise," he says. "When it is not working properly we do something in one direction. When it is working properly we will do something to support it."

Early members of the foundation's legal team came together as part of a task force of state attorneys defending welfare restrictions implemented by former Gov. Ronald Reagan. But most of Pacific's cases have involved environmental controversies.

It intervened in support of the Defense Department in a suit in which environmentalists challenged construction of a Trident atomic submarine base in Bangor, Wash.

It joined the State of California to oppose the Environmental Protection Agency's air quality control plan for the state.

And it tried unsuccessfully to overturn a growth control plan adopted by Petaluma, Calif. The Petaluma plan deals with housing projects of five units or more and limits the total number of dwellings that can be built in those size projects to 500 a year.

The foundation contended that the plan amounted to an unconstitutional infringement on the right to travel, but the U.S. Supreme Court let stand a lower court ruling upholding the plan.

The foundation has been drawn into controversies outside the courtroom. When it received a $21,000 fee for its work in a Humboldt County case, critics wondered if Pacific had jeopardized its status as a nonprofit organization.

They also criticized Pacific for becoming involved in a case which involved the firm of one of its directors, Simpson Timber Co.

Zumbun says there was no conflict because Pacific was representing the state forester, not Simpson, although the forester and Simpson were on the same side in the case.

The $21,000 was partial payment for Pacific's expenses, he said, and was not an attorney's fee in the traditional sense.

The Internal Revenue Service has since prohibited public interest law firms from receiving fees except in certain circumstances when they are court-awarded. Zumbun says the ruling did not apply retroactively.

Pacific's role in about a third of its cases has been restricted to friend-of-the-court briefs, but Zumbun says many of those briefs have raised new arguments that have shown up in the judge's decision.

"At least that indicates they're read," he said.

Public Law Firm Backs Free Enterprise

The Circleville Herald, Friday May 7, 1976

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — They might be called the conservative's store-front lawyers.

That's probably the best way to describe the 12 staff attorneys of the Pacific Legal Foundation, a public interest law firm with a twist.

While other public interest lawyers battle on the side of environmentalists or welfare groups, Pacific usually finds itself aligned with developers and welfare watchdogs.

"We are the only public interest law firm that is supportive of free enterprise and private property," says Ronald Zumbrun, the foundation's legal director. "We feel you have to give equal weight to environmental, social and economic situations when you make a decision."

Organized three years ago, Pacific has rolled up a respectable record as a spokesman for what it believes are the views of most Americans.

It has gone to court to support welfare restrictions it considers legitimate and to attack environmental controls and growth limitation it views as unrealistic.

"We feel that governments have the right to impose reasonable restrictions on growth," says Zumbrun. "But they cannot do it with their heads in the sand."

In the some 45 cases the foundation has been involved, it has been on the losing side in only one that has gone to final judgment.

It suffered setbacks in two cases still under appeal and credits itself with 25 victories, although Zumbrun says a few of those victories could still be appealed.

The remaining cases are awaiting action.

The foundation was incorporated in March 1973 as a nonprofit, public-interest law firm, the outgrowth of a conversation between Zumbrun and Roy A. Green Jr., then a California Chamber of Commerce official and now Pacific's administrator.

The foundation's initial staff consisted of Zumbrun, Green and two secretaries. It's first-year budget was $240,000.

The projected budget for this year is $1.2 million, and its staff of 12 attorneys includes two in a Washington office.

Zumbrun says about 60 per cent of Pacific's funds come from foundations and small donors. The rest are from businesses and various organizations. Pacific was founded with the chamber's blessing, and although it is not affiliated with the chamber, its ties with the business community are strong.

Ten of its board members are officials with major business firms, and the board chairman, David James, is a partner with Arthur Young & Co., one of the nation's eight largest accounting firms.

Although the foundation frequently finds itself allied with business interests, it's not a "front" for the business community, Zumbrun says.

"We are supportive of free enterprise," he says. "When it is not working properly we do something in one direction. When it is working properly we will do something to support it."

Early members of the foundation's legal team came together as part of a task force of state attorneys defending welfare restrictions implemented by former Gov. Ronald Reagan. But most of Pacific's cases have involved environmental controversies.

It intervened in support of the Defense Department in a suit in which environmentalists challenged construction of a Trident atomic submarine base in Bangor, Wash.

It joined the State of California to oppose the Environmental Protection Agency's air quality control plan for the state.

And it tried unsuccessfully to overturn a growth control plan adopted by Petaluma, Calif. The Petaluma plan deals with housing projects of five units or more and limits the total number of dwellings that can be built in those size projects to 500 a year.

The foundation contended that the plan amounted to an unconstitutional infringement on the right to travel, but the U.S. Supreme Court let stand a lower court ruling upholding the plan.

The foundation has been drawn into controversies outside the courtroom. When it received a $21,000 fee for its work in a Humboldt County case, critics wondered if Pacific had jeopardized its status as a nonprofit organization.

They also criticized Pacific for becoming involved in a case which involved the firm of one of its directors, Simpson Timber Co.

Zumbrun says there was no conflict because Pacific was representing the state forester, not Simpson, although the forester and Simpson were on the same side in the case.

The $21,000 was partial payment for Pacific's expenses, he said, and was not an attorney's fee in the traditional sense.

The Internal Revenue Service has since prohibited public interest law firms from receiving fees except in certain circumstances when they are court-awarded. Zumbrun says the ruling did not apply retroactively.

Pacific's role in about a third of its cases has been restricted to friend-of-the-court briefs, but Zumbrun says many of those briefs have raised new arguments that have shown up in the judge's decision.

"At least that indicates they're read," he said.

Churches Eye Questionable Ads

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Negative reactions, ranging from a stiff "no" to a qualified "not now," have risen in church circles to the idea of permitting contraceptive advertising on radio and television.

"Totally opposed," says Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C., adding that the idea is "one which many people rightly find repulsive."

"It makes no difference whether the

Scavenger Hunt

The Circleville Chapter of Young Life will meet in the parking lot behind Children's Services offices on West Franklin Street, 6:30 p.m. Saturday for a scavenger hunt, according to director, Greg Brown.

After the hunt, the group will return for transportation to the fairgrounds at 8:30 where they will see a Laurel and Hardy movie "Bohemian Girl". There will be a minimal charge.

Brown also noted that there may be scholarships available for summer camps.

54 CBC Students

Receive Federal Loans

Circleville Bible College will receive $20,606 for 54 students under the National Direct Student Loan Program it was announced by Congressman William Harsha.

Under this program, federal funds will provide 90 per cent of the new capital contributions to the National Direct Student Loan Program funds and the colleges concerned will provide the remaining 10 per cent.

approach is 'hard sell' or 'soft sell', contraceptive advertising should not be introduced into American homes on the television screen," he says.

It "is not justified at this time," says the interdenominational communications commission of the National Council of Churches.

The commission says experts agree that broadcasting already "has played a major role in stimulating and validating" increased sexual activity among teen-agers, and that contraceptive advertising would further abet the trend.

However, the commission suggested research into results of such radio and television ads in limited test areas to see if it would in fact, reduce venereal disease and unwanted pregnancies, as proponents claim would occur.

The commission says it doubts that would be the case.

The reactions came amid rising church criticism of television content.

"The exploitation of sex and violence on television is a continual national disgrace," says Harry N. Hollis, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., director of family and moral concerns of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission.

The new anxieties were touched off by word that the National Association of Broadcasters' Code Board is considering whether to relax restrictions against advertising of nonprescriptive contraceptives.

Roman Catholic teaching opposes contraception, although surveys indicate many Catholic couples use it. It is condoned by Protestant, Orthodox and Jewish teachings.

The interdenominational commission cited statistics about teenagers of 70 to 80 per cent increase in unplanned births, 276,000 annual abortions and a 12.7 per cent general rise in venereal disease, and said there was apparent need for clearer contraceptive information.

But the commission says it doubts contraceptive ads would be truthful, and that moreover, such ads would infringe on rights of parents who believe their children should be discouraged from sexual activity outside marriage.

Broadcasters were asked to examine already existing advertising with the aim of modifying materials that encourage "irresponsible sexual activity."

33 In Food Stamp Fraud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-three Ohio residents were convicted of fraud in the first three months of 1976 in obtaining food stamps, according to the Department of Public Welfare.

In a report to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the welfare department listed cases ranging from $80 to $3,209 of illegally obtained food stamps.

Kwegyir Aggrey, state welfare director-designate, said the food stamp cases were handled by county welfare departments and county prosecutors.

He said the 33 convictions represent the number for a three-month period since the state began compiling statistics last year.

The convictions for fraud in the food stamp program come as federal and state investigators prepare to examine cases of fraud in the state's Medicaid program.

Also, Ohio stands to lose $8.7 million in federal matching funds, one of 45 states the federal government contends did not meet requirements for catching errors in welfare payments in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Churches Eye Questionable Ads

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Negative reactions, ranging from a stiff "no" to a qualified "not now," have risen in church circles to the idea of permitting contraceptive advertising on radio and television.

"Totally opposed," says Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C., adding that the idea is "one which many people rightly find repulsive."

"It makes no difference whether the

Young Life Schedules Scavenger Hunt

The Circleville Chapter of Young Life will meet in the parking lot behind Children's Services offices on West Franklin Street, 6:30 p.m. Saturday for a scavenger hunt, according to director, Greg Brown.

After the hunt, the group will return for transportation to the fairgrounds at 8:30 where they will see a Laurel and Hardy movie "Bohemian Girl". There will be a minimal charge.

Brown also noted that there may be scholarships available for summer camps.

54 CBC Students Receive Federal Loans

Circleville Bible College will receive $20,606 for 54 students under the National Direct Student Loan Program it was announced by Congressman William Harsha.

Under this program, federal funds will provide 90 per cent of the new capital contributions to the National Direct Student Loan Program funds and the colleges concerned will provide the remaining 10 per cent.

approach is 'hard sell' or 'soft sell', contraceptive advertising should not be introduced into American homes on the television screen," he says.

It "is not justified at this time," says the interdenominational communications commission of the National Council of Churches.

The commission says experts agree that broadcasting already "has played a major role in stimulating and validating" increased sexual activity among teen-agers, and that contraceptive advertising would further abet the trend.

However, the commission suggested research into results of such radio and television ads in limited test areas to see if it would in fact, reduce venereal disease and unwanted pregnancies, as proponents claim would occur.

The commission says it doubts that would be the case.

The reactions came amid rising church criticism of television content.

"The exploitation of sex and violence on television is a continual national disgrace," says Harry N. Hollis, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., director of family and moral concerns of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission.

The new anxieties were touched off by word that the National Association of Broadcasters' Code Board is considering whether to relax restrictions against advertising of nonprescriptive contraceptives.

Roman Catholic teaching opposes contraception, although surveys indicate many Catholic couples use it. It is condoned by Protestant, Orthodox and Jewish teachings.

The interdenominational commission cited statistics about teenagers of 70 to 80 per cent increase in unplanned births, 276,000 annual abortions and a 12.7 per cent general rise in venereal disease, and said there was apparent need for clearer contraceptive information.

But the commission says it doubts contraceptive ads would be truthful, and that moreover, such ads would infringe on rights of parents who believe their children should be discouraged from sexual activity outside marriage.

Broadcasters were asked to examine already existing advertising with the aim of modifying materials that encourage "irresponsible sexual activity."

33 In Food Stamp Fraud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-three Ohio residents were convicted of fraud in the first three months of 1976 in obtaining food stamps, according to the Department of Public Welfare.

In a report to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the welfare department listed cases ranging from $80 to $3,209 of illegally obtained food stamps.

Kwegyir Aggrey, state welfare director-designate, said the food stamp cases were handled by county welfare departments and county prosecutors.

He said the 33 convictions represent the number for a three-month period since the state began compiling statistics last year.

The convictions for fraud in the food stamp program come as federal and state investigators prepare to examine cases of fraud in the state's Medicaid program.

Also, Ohio stands to lose $8.7 million in federal matching funds, one of 45 states the federal government contends did not meet requirements for catching errors in welfare payments in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Norton Woman Wins Top Lottery Prize

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Elva Fannin, 59, of Norton says she likes to travel, and with her Ohio lottery winnings she will be able to go far.

Mrs. Fannin, who is an account clerk for student activities at the University of Akron, won $1,000 a month for life in the lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest Thursday night.

She said she found it "still hard to believe" and hadn't made any plans in advance for spending the money. However, Mrs. Fannin, whose husband, Burch, is on disability retirement from the Mohawk Tire and Rubber Co., said she will "take a lot of trips."

Her first trip, she said, will be to Greece, "as soon as I get a vacation," to visit her son, Gene, who is in the Air Force, stationed at Athens with his wife and two sons.

She said she plans to continue working until her retirement two years from now.

Mrs. Fannin won the big prize, with a guaranteed minimum of $400,000, in the first all-female cast on the Ohio Lottery Commission's weekly televised show.

Seven of the eight persons who held winning tickets for the Buckeye 1,000 contest were women, and a woman substituted for the eighth contestant.

Other winners included Ruth Green, New Holland, $10,000; Laura Pearlman, Canton, $7,500; Beverly Labant, Willoughby Hills, $5,000; Gertrude Klenk, Brooklyn, $4,000; Margaret Sedlock, Cleveland, $3,000; Jean Harris, Springfield, $2,000, and Jean Matuszak, Toledo, $1,000.

Mrs. Matuszak substituted for her husband, Thomas, who was coholder of a winning ticket with Donald Georgoff of Toledo.

Miss Pearlman, 23, said she plans to be married July 4.

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer at 219 South Court Street.

(Q.) Has the rate of interest on a G.I. Loan changed of late?

(A.) Yes, as of March 30, 1976, it was reduced to 8½ per cent.

(Q.) I draw compensation for a service connected disability suffered in Vietnam. If I am hospitalized for this disability, will the Veterans Administration increase my compensation?

(A.) Yes. If you're hospitalized 21 days or more, your disability rating will be increased to 100 per cent. You'll receive compensation at this rate until discharged from the hospital.

(Q.) My father is in a nursing home. What proof does he need to be eligible for the special allowance for veterans who need regular aid and attendance?

(A.) A statement from the director or custodian of records of a nursing home that the claimant is a patient who requires nursing home care, or a certification by a private physician stating why care is required will be accepted as evidence of the need for aid and attendance.

(Q.) Is it true that a disabled veteran can be exempt from purchasing a Hunting and Fishing license?

(A.) It is true, if the veteran is receiving from the Veterans Administration a 100 per cent Service Connected Disability or a Total Non Service Connected Pension. If he is receiving one of these two benefits, he must secure from the VA a Certificate which indicates that he is, and he must carry this certificate with him at all times when hunting or fishing.

(Q.) I was found by several doctors to be totally and permanently disabled; the result of an auto accident. However, I was in military service during Peace Time. Am I eligible to be exempt from the Hunting and Fishing License?

(A.) I am sorry, but you are not, because Peace Time veterans are not eligible for Pension. Even though a veteran may be totally and permanently disabled, he must be receiving either 100 per cent Compensation or Total Permanent Non Service Connected Pension from the VA to qualify for this special benefit.

Ohio had the first silk factory in the United States, established at Mount Pleasant, Hamilton County, in 1841. Its owner bought silk worms in France, fed them on 25 acres of mulberry trees.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Unlike the TV quiz shows, we can't offer you a giant jackpot, but the Pickaway County District Public Library can offer you a world of entertainment. All you need is a free library card and some browsing time.

This week's new fiction includes the latest novel by Peter Benchley, the author of "Jaws." "The Deep" is another undersea story. A young couple, scuba diving off the coast of Bermuda, keep the plot moving with the discovery of a lost shipment of drugs.

"The Immortals" by Nancy Freedman is the classic story of power and its consequences in the 20th century. A family dynasty built on the wealth of oil comes to grips with itself.

Mystery, the supernatural and the world of art all woven together into a spellbinding novel. If you like suspense, "Survivor" by Marc Brandel is for you.

An Isaac Asimov murder mystery has to be better than average! "Murder At The ABA" by the prominent author is no ordinary thriller.

Wallace Stegner has created another study of mankind ruled by the human heart. "The Spectator Bird" takes Joe Allston back in time 20 years on a strange journey.

A dog which does his master's bidding too well is the theme of "Instar" by Ryder Brady. It's not for the squeamish.

The passion and fury of the Middle East conflict comes alive in a new novel by Andrew Osmond. "Saladin" is very much a story for today.

Irish novels are much in evidence this year. "A Waiting Game" by Michael Powell is the latest of this type.

Several new Avalon romances complete the fiction titles being added this week.

Mechanics might scream, but an interesting book which should appeal to the ladies is "What Every Woman Should Know About Her Car" by Dorothy Jackson.

If Spring sets you to thinking about changing the decor of your home, "The Complete Basic Book Of Home Decorating" edited by William Hague has some good ideas.

The NEW YORK TIMES "Book Of House Plants" by Joan Faust offers some suggestions on how to keep your "inside" plants happy during the summer.

"The Fern Growers Manual" by Barbara Hoshizaki is a well-illustrated, informative volume for the gardener who enjoys ferns.

Anne Hobbs went to Alaska in the twenties. "Tisha" is the story of the young teacher's life in the wilderness.

Destined to become a controversial book, "Medical Nemesis" by Ivan Illich is an indictment of the health professions.

"Freedom To Die" by O. Ruth Russell is another in the current trend of books on the moral and legal aspects of Euthanasia.

James Baldwin writes in detail about effects of American cinema on himself from childhood to last year. He also discusses what he sees of American character revealed in and shaped by films.

How to live better emotionally as a family or as an individual is the subject of many new titles. "The Family" by Elaine and Walter Goodman is a history of the family yesterday, today, and tomorrow.

"What Your Child Is All About" by Dr. Murray Kappelman is intended to help parents to a better job of child-rearing.

"The Marriage Savers" by Joanne and Lew Koch is slanted toward helping young couples know when marriage counseling is needed and how to avoid the incompetents.

Written on a professional level, "The Adolescent In Group And Family Therapy" provides current developments in this field.

"The Facts Of Life" is an essay in feelings, facts and fantasy by R. D. Laing, the controversial psychoanalyst.

June graduates will be interested in the new catalog "Financial Aids For Higher Education."

Another book on the high cost of living, "The Money Balloon" by Sidney Ruthberg, tells you how to live with inflation.

Photographers will enjoy "Object And Image" by George Craven but for a real sight treat, "Illusion In Nature And Art" edited by Gregory and Gombich is especially appealing.

For the browsers "The Unquiet Landscape" by Brunsden, "Golden Eagle Country" by Olendorf, ad "American denim" by Owens have appeal.

Libraries are for people. Make sure you're part of the scene at the Pickaway County District Public Library.

Shoplifter Apprehended

Edward L. Reeves, 25, Big Bear store employe summoned city Patrolman Howard Fletcher to the North Court Street store after observing a shoplifter at 8:50 p.m. Thursday. Fletcher stated he observed Howard Jester 45, Route 1, Clarksburg, putting objects in his pocket and confronted Jester.

According to Ptl. Fletcher, Reeves found that Jester had five cans of snuff in his pocket valued at $1.75. Fletcher then arrested Jester for petit theft.

Michael J. Lorick, 8, 708 S. Washington St. stated he was bitten by a dog he intended to pet on Long St. He went to the hospital afterward.

Sun Valley, Idaho, is famous for its year-round sports resorts and attracts many tourists.

Norton Woman Wins Top Lottery Prize

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Elva Fannin, 59, of Norton says she likes to travel, and with her Ohio lottery winnings she will be able to go far. Mrs. Fannin, who is an account clerk for student activities at the University of Akron, won $1,000 a month for life in the lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest Thursday night. She said she found it "still hard to believe" and hadn't made any plans in advance for spending the money. However, Mrs. Fannin, whose husband, Burch, is on disability retirement from the Mohawk Tire and Rubber Co., said she will "take a lot of trips."

Tangents On Books And Activities At The Library

Unlike the TV quiz shows, we can't offer you a giant jackpot, but the Pickaway County District Public Library can offer you a world of entertainment. All you need is a free library card and some browsing time. This week's new fiction includes the latest novel by Peter Benchley, the author of "Jaws." "The Deep" is another undersea story. A young couple, scuba diving off the coast of Bermuda, keep the plot moving with the discovery of a lost shipment of drugs. "The Immortals" by Nancy Freedman is the classic story of power and its consequences in the 20th century. A family dynasty built on the wealth of oil comes to grips with itself. Mystery, the supernatural and the world of art all woven together into a spellbinding novel. If you like suspense, "Survivor" by Marc Brandel is for you.

An Isaac Asimov murder mystery has to be better than average! "Murder At The ABA" by the prominent author is no ordinary thriller.

Wallace Stegner has created another study of mankind ruled by the human heart. "The Spectator Bird" takes Joe Allston back in time 20 years on a strange journey.

A dog which does his master's bidding too well is the theme of "Instar" by Ryder Brady. It's not for the squeamish.

The passion and fury of the Middle East conflict comes alive in a new novel by Andrew Osmond. "Saladin" is very much a story for today.

Irish novels are much in evidence this year. "A Waiting Game" by Michael Powell is the latest of this type.

Several new Avalon romances complete the fiction titles being added this week. Mechanics might scream, but an interesting book which should appeal to the ladies is "What Every Woman Should Know About Her Car" by Dorothy Jackson.

If Spring sets you to thinking about changing the decor of your home, "The Complete Basic Book Of Home Decorating" edited by William Hague has some good ideas.

The NEW YORK TIMES "Book Of House Plants" by Joan Faust offers some suggestions on how to keep your "inside" plants happy during the summer.

"The Fern Growers Manual" by Barbara Hoshizaki is a well-illustrated, informative volume for the gardener who enjoys ferns.

Anne Hobbs went to Alaska in the twenties. "Tisha" is the story of the young teacher's life in the wilderness.

Destined to become a controversial book, "Medical Nemesis" by Ivan Illich is an indictment of the health professions.

"Freedom To Die" by O. Ruth Russell is another in the current trend of books on the moral and legal aspects of Euthanasia.

James Baldwin writes in detail about effects of American cinema on himself from childhood to last year. He also discusses what he sees of American character revealed in and shaped by films.

How to live better emotionally as a family or as an individual is the subject of many new titles. "The Family" by Elaine and Walter Goodman is a history of the family yesterday, today, and tomorrow. "What Your Child Is All About" by Dr. Murray Kappelman is intended to help parents to a better job of child-rearing.

"The Marriage Savers" by Joanne and Lew Koch is slanted toward helping young couples know when marriage counseling is needed and how to avoid the incompetents.

Written on a professional level, "The Adolescent In Group And Family Therapy" provides current developments in this field.

"The Facts Of Life" is an essay in feelings, facts and fantasy by R. D. Laing, the controversial psychoanalyst.

June graduates will be interested in the new catalog "Financial Aids For Higher Education."

Another book on the high cost of living, "The Money Balloon" by Sidney Ruthberg, tells you how to live with inflation.

Photographers will enjoy "Object And Image" by George Craven but for a realstight treat, "Illusion In Nature And Art" edited by Gregory and Gombich is especially appealing.

For the browsers "The Unquiet Landscape" by Brunsden, "Golden Eagle Country" by Olendorff, ad "American denim" by Owens have appeal.

Libraries are for people. Make sure you're part of the scene at the Pickaway County District Public Library.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Family Stricken With Mate-Swapping

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe this is happening to me.

My daughter is 28 and my son is 30. They are both married, but no children, thank God.

My son's wife and my daughter's husband fell in love, and they are divorcing their mates to marry each other!

In an effort to save our son's marriage my husband had a heart-to-heart talk with our son's mother-in-law (who is a nice-looking divorcee), and now my husband is involved with this woman to the point of asking me for a legal separation until he can get his head straight!

Abby, this is like a bad dream. My lawyer says that my husband will come to his senses, so I shouldn't be too hasty with the divorce, but I don't want a man who doesn't want me.

Our children are young and can make other lives for themselves, although my daughter is so heart-broken she is in therapy. Neither my daughter or son had a clue as to what was going on between their mates.

Please tell me, is divorce contagious?

DIZZY FROM DIVORCES

DEAR DIZZY: Divorce is not contagious, but some people who have only considered it fleetingly have gathered courage from friends and relatives who actually go through with it. Every divorce doesn't represent a failure. Some, believe it or not, are "victories."

DEAR ABBY: I laughed when I read the letter from the doctor's wife who complained because the neighbors called her husband in the middle of the night to run over and treat their kids for some minor ailment. (They all had regular doctors, but they called "Dr. Dave" instead because he was so handy.)

Abby, the way to put a stop to that is to send out bills for an "emergency call." Believe me, they'll think twice before calling Dr. Dave again.

When my husband was a young struggling attorney, people used to corner him at social gatherings and pump him for free legal advice. He even had people calling him at all hours of the night asking for legal advice. We put a stop to that when he started to send them bills for "consultations."

LAWYER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: The prescription must work. It was recommended by several doctors.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my boyfriend moved in with me. While arranging his belongings, I came across his divorce papers. Being inquisitive, I read them and found out that he has three children by his ex-wife instead of two, as he said.

Also, he told me that he was 35, and according to his divorce papers, he is 44. (I am 22.)

I really care for him and think we can have a good life together, but finding out these things the way I did has me terribly upset.

Should I just keep quiet about it and let him tell me in his own good time? Or should I tell him I know?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell him you know. But don't count too heavily on building a "good life" together. The foundation is weak.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that some crazy people down south are trying to pass a law to put diapers on horses.

Well, I own a horse, and I think the idea is stupid.

Horses have a right to relieve themselves. At least they fertilize the grass. Automobiles pollute. Take your pick.

Lima Man Sentenced To 355 Years

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A man convicted of raping five women was sentenced to up to 355 years in prison after the judge described him as "one of the most amoral characters" of any person that had appeared before him.

Edgar White Jr., 27, of Lima was sentenced to consecutive prison terms by Allen County Common Pleas Court Judge John D. Harnishfeger.

A common pleas jury found White guilty on March 15 of five counts of rape, five counts of kidnapping, three counts of aggravated robbery, one count of aggravated burglary and one count of gross sexual imposition.

Authorities said White was charged following a series of rapes and abductions last year. In several of the cases, authorities said White disabled the cars of unsuspecting women, and later offered to repair the autos. Then, authorities said, he asked for a ride and committed the rapes.

Dr. Raymond B. Croissant, a psychiatrist, said that examiners at Lima State Hospital observed White for 60 days and found "he knew right from wrong, but just didn't care." He said that White had been at the hospital twice previously, including one 13-month period in 1968 and 1969 on a similar charge.

White was sentenced to serve the prison term at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville.

Kissinger To Promote New Policy

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger plans a phased campaign for congressional support of the Ford administration's new African policy.

First he will go to Capitol Hill to report on his two-week tour of Africa and to get what U.S. officials call "a sense of support."

Then, barring hitches, the administration will ask Congress to repeal the Byrd Amendment, which permits Rhodesian chrome imports into the United States in defiance of a United Nations embargo.

The administration will also ask Congress to appropriate funds to help finance projects Kissinger talked about during his tour.

In Senegal, he called on other nations to join in a development program for the drought-stricken sub-Saharan region.

In Nairobi, at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, he said the United States would contribute $200 million to a new "international resources bank" to get multinational corporations to invest in Third-World development.

He also agreed to help organize buffer stockpiles of key raw materials to regulate prices of the commodities.

In Zambia, he called for black-majority rule in Rhodesia. He condemned the white Rhodesian government and promised to try to get the Byrd Amendment repealed. He also offered Mozambique $12.5 million to offset hardships resulting from its closing its borders with Rhodesia, and he promised help to refugees from Rhodesia.

Radiation Tests Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — A medical technician is retesting the staff of the American Embassy in Moscow to see if recent heavy doses of microwave radiation caused an increase in white-cell blood counts, State Department officials say.

They would not give figures, but conceded that several embassy officers and staff workers showed higher than average white cell counts when initially tested last February.

However, a near epidemic of the flu had swept the embassy then and might have caused the unusually high white cell counts, the officials said.

Now that the flu has passed, the tests are being repeated to see if the radiation the Russians have beamed into the embassy was the cause.

White cells provide immunization against disease and an increase is not necessarily a serious problem, perhaps only indicating a minor infection is present.

On the other hand, leukemia is the result of an abnormal growth of white cells.

In any event, the U.S. officials say the possibility of radiation-caused disease has largely passed because of measures taken in recent months.

Dayton Uses 5-Year Finance Plan

Editor's Note:

Throughout the past week, The Associated Press has been examining the finances of Ohio's municipalities. Here's a look at the City of Dayton which is trying a different plan.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A five-year plan is usually mentioned in discussions about the failures of the Russian's economic system. But city fathers claim the five-year concept has for them solved many of the financial problems plaguing other cities.

Elimination of cash flow problems, budget deficits, unplanned layoffs and unexpected equipment purchases and an increase of citizen confidence in government all result from Dayton's unusual combination of a five-year, renewable income tax and a five-year planning system, officials say.

"Not only do we program revenues and expenditures over five years, but we have an internal plan which programs performance levels and staffing levels," said Paul Woodie, director of the city's office of management and budget.

"That means we are capable of dealing now with a projected $4.2 million deficit when the plan and tax ends in 1980. That sounds like a lot of money, but we are perfectly capable of adjusting operations without a detrimental effect so that when we get there (1980) we won't have a deficit," Woodie said.

Voters in 1974 approved an increase from 1 per cent to 1.75 in the city's income tax, the main source of revenue. But the city must go to the voters every five years to have the tax renewed.

"That really keeps us on our toes," said Finance Director Richard Helwig. "The end result is a community that plans together for service delivery over a long period of time. We don't have the massive fluctuations seen in New York City.

"But we are constantly adjusting our budget, unlike most cities who approve a budget and are stuck with it. We want to avoid the chaos of layoffs that hit us in 1970 and 1971. There is never a reason to lay off anybody if you plan far enough ahead. You can do it all through attrition," Woodie said.

He said Dayton is also one of the few cities "to have budget hearings and never discuss money. The City Commission talks about priorities, not dollars, and we adjust the allocation of efforts."

Helwig said he has "received very positive feedback from the investment and bond-rating community. They feel that a five-year plan coupled with a voted income tax cycle is a strong response to urban problem solving."

Woodie said other cities will eventually move towards longrange budgeting and planning, but warns it won't be easy.

"It is not difficult to do but it takes time so it is understood by all. But then they will be able to ride out the waves of the economy without drowning," he said.

Milk Output May Rise This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — After rocking along with little change the past three years, milk production in 1976 could increase slightly as dairy farmers take advantage of plentiful grain supplies and reduced feed costs, the Agriculture Department says.

But officials said the larger supply will not mean lower consumer prices for milk and other dairy products. The department's Outlook and Situation Board said retail prices of those items as a group are expected to average 6 to 8 per cent higher than they did in 1975, a prediction also made earlier this year.

The board said Thursday that 1976 milk production might go up two billion pounds from last year's output of 115.5 billion but that the gain "could be larger or smaller" depending on farm milk prices, feed costs and other economic factors.

If 1976 milk output does rise by that much — about 1.7 per cent — it would put the total at 117.5 billion pounds, the most since production was 119.9 billion pounds in 1972.

Milk output dropped sharply in 1973 to less than 115.4 billion pounds as farmers responded to high feed costs and lagging milk prices by reducing herds and cutting back on grain in cows' rations.

The report said that milk prices at the farm will decline as the spring "flush" season of peak production develops but that prices still will average 10 to 15 per cent above what they did a year ago. In the second half of 1976, prices "could post a fairly strong seasonal rise" but are not expected to match the big gains in the second half of last year, officials said.

Dairy farmers received an average of $9.48 per 100 pounds of milk in April, down 82 cents from the peak set last December. But the April price, a "blend" figure for all types of milk sold by farmers, was up $1.34 per 100 pounds from the same month of last year.

He also offered Mozambique $12.5 million to offset hardships resulting from its closing its borders with Rhodesia, and he promised help to refugees from Rhodesia.

Radiation Tests Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — A medical technician is retesting the staff of the American Embassy in Moscow to see if recent heavy doses of microwave radiation caused an increase in white-cell blood counts, State Department officials say.

They would not give figures, but conceded that several embassy officers and staff workers showed higher than average white cell counts when initially tested last February.

However, a near epidemic of the flu had swept the embassy then and might have caused the unusually high white cell counts, the officials said.

Now that the flu has passed, the tests are being repeated to see if the radiation the Russians have beamed into the embassy was the cause.

White cells provide immunization against disease and an increase is not necessarily a serious problem, perhaps only indicating a minor infection is present.

On the other hand, leukemia is the result of an abnormal growth of white cells.

In any event, the U.S. officials say the possibility of radiation-caused disease has largely passed because of measures taken in recent months.

Dayton Uses 5-Year Finance Plan

Editor's Note:

Throughout the past week, The Associated Press has been examining the finances of Ohio's municipalities. Here's a look at the City of Dayton which is trying a different plan.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A five-year plan is usually mentioned in discussions about the failures of the Russian's economic system. But city fathers claim the five-year concept has for them solved many of the financial problems plaguing other cities.

Elimination of cash flow problems, budget deficits, unplanned layoffs and unexpected equipment purchases and an increase of citizen confidence in government all result from Dayton's unusual combination of a five-year, renewable income tax and a five-year planning system, officials say.

"Not only do we program revenues and expenditures over five years, but we have an internal plan which programs performance levels and staffing levels," said Paul Woodie, director of the city's office of management and budget.

"That means we are capable of dealing now with a projected $4.2 million deficit when the plan and tax ends in 1980. That sounds like a lot of money, but we are perfectly capable of adjusting operations without a detrimental effect so that when we get there (1980) we won't have a deficit," Woodie said.

Voters in 1974 approved an increase from 1 per cent to 1.75 in the city's income tax, the main source of revenue. But the city must go to the voters every five years to have the tax renewed.

"That really keeps us on our toes," said Finance Director Richard Helwig. "The end result is a community that plans together for service delivery over a long period of time. We don't have the massive fluctuations seen in New York City.

"But we are constantly adjusting our budget, unlike most cities who approve a budget and are stuck with it. We want to avoid the chaos of layoffs that hit us in 1970 and 1971. There is never a reason to lay off anybody if you plan far enough ahead. You can do it all through attrition," Woodie said.

He said Dayton is also one of the few cities "to have budget hearings and never discuss money. The City Commission talks about priorities, not dollars, and we adjust the allocation of efforts."

Helwig said he has "received very positive feedback from the investment and bond-rating community. They feel that a five-year plan coupled with a voted income tax cycle is a strong response to urban problem solving."

Woodie said other cities will eventually move towards longrange budgeting and planning, but warns it won't be easy.

"It is not difficult to do but it takes time so it is understood by all. But then they will be able to ride out the waves of the economy without drowning," he said.

Lymphatic Cancer Work-Induced?

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lymphatic cancer was added Thursday to diseases which may be linked to work with synthetic rubber.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. said study of employee health records showed that in the past five years, two workers in its Beaumont, Tex., synthetic rubber plant had died of lymphosarcoma, a cancer of the lymphatic system.

Goodyear also said that since 1964, leukemia had claimed the lives of four Goodyear workers in its Akron plants where synthetic rubbers are used.

Goodyear added that a retired Akron employee was being treated for leukemia.

It also announced that a laboratory worker in its Houston, Tex., synthetic rubber production plant had died of leukemia within the same period.

The four Akron Goodyear deaths were revealed Wednesday by a member of the University of North Carolina research team that has been conducting an employee health study for Goodyear, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers union.

The University of North Carolina study also said that within the same 1964-1973 period, six Goodyear Akron synthetic rubber workers died of blood diseases related to leukemia. Goodyear said Thursday it found no evidence the six employees were exposed to styrenebutadiene rubber (SBR), the workhorse of the industry and the substance on which concern was centering.

Firestone announced Wednesday that three of its Akron synthetic rubber workers died of leukemia and three others of related diseases in the same period.

The concern over whether work with SBR was related to leukemia deaths or those from similar blood diseases arose about a month ago when B.F. Goodrich Co. announced four of its Port Neches, Tex., synthetic rubber plant employees had died of leukemia and that another was undergoing treatment.

Similar reports from other rubber companies followed, and a federal study was begun in addition to those being conducted by the industry.

Seven Goodyear synthetic rubber employees in Akron died of aplastic anemia, a leukemialike disease linked with benzene, the substance from which styrene is produced.

Goodyear said it couldn't determine whether any of the deaths were related to work but that its records showed the men could have been exposed to styrene and butadiene, which it called "a possible previously unrecognized health hazard in synthetic rubber production."

The Manufacturing Chemists Association was studying styrene to determine whether it may be linked to leukemia. Goodyear said the International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers was studying such possible effects of butadiene.

Goodyear's Houston plant produces SBR. In the Beaumont plant, polybutadiene, a synthetic rubber, is produced from butadiene that's made elsewhere by other companies.

Girl Wins Backing Against Officialdom

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The other kids come up to shake her hand, and the neighbors call her Beth Celebrity. She is 12-year-old Beth Ann Lewis who attempted to protect her small suburban village from bigness, drawing the indignation of officialdom and the underdog affection of the townspeople.

Beth, assigned a project by her seventh-grade Olmsted Falls teacher to do something aimed at improving the environment or the community, wrote to Cuyahoga County Engineer Albert S. Porter suggesting he not go ahead with plans to replace a small bridge near her school with a larger one.

She feared the new bridge would bring super highways and factories, chase away the wildlife and ruin the quaintness of her town of 2,500.

Back came a reply from Porter, calling her and her neighbors "moochers, scroungers, chiselers and parasites" because they had no social, civic, sporting or cultural amenities at home and had to use county roads to drive to other cities. He said they imposed on others to accommodate themselves.

Porter chastised Beth for misspelling some words and criticized her teacher, Raymond Welling, 29.

"I would suggest," he wrote, "you tell your teachers to spend more time on spelling, punctuation, sentence structure and paragraphing."

Porter himself misspelled several words in his letter.

Beth was upset. She said Porter was mean and rude. She would just as soon have tossed the letter away and forgotten about it but she took it back to school to show Welling.

Welling answered Porter's letter, telling Porter that "the examples you set in your letter are disgusting."

"It is upsetting when a public official does not extend the same basic respect any teacher would expect from a seventh grade student," Welling said.

Her mother, Mrs. David R. Lewis, thought about writing.

"But then I said to myself if he is that nasty leave him lie under the rug. She is a meek and mild child. His letter was crude and strong. It was not so much that he disagreed, but the way he said it."

Porter could not be reached either at his office or his home. His wife said he would have no comment.

State Oil Output Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — While natural gas production in Ohio doubled in the past 10 years, oil production is far below levels of a decade ago, says a professor at Ohio State University.

But the professor, Dr. Frederick R. Stocker, says oil production has increased slightly in recent years, while natural gas production decreased.

He said oil wells in the state produced 9.6 million barrels of crude oil last year, 5 per cent more than in 1974, but 26 per cent less than the output in 1965.

Natural gas production was 85 billion cubic feet last year, double the 1965 level, but 8 per cent below 1974. Stocker writes in the current issue of The Bulletin of Business Research published at Ohio State.

Wells account for about 7 per cent of the natural gas consumed in Ohio and 5 per cent of the oil burned.

Stocker said a federal ceiling placed on gas well head prices accounts for the recent decline in gas production in Ohio. Another factor is the closing of some unprofitable operations and a shift to more profitable oil operations.

Muskingum County has led the state in oil and gas drilling for four years, followed by Coshocton, Carroll and Tuscarawas counties, he said.

A French munitions ship exploded in Halifax harbor in 1917 killing about 2,000 persons.

Hi Dere! Boy I found out the airport isn't the only place where strange things happen around here! A few days ago I was driving a friend's car up 23 and since he had one of those Citizen Band radios in it I turned it on.

The first thing I heard was a rubber ducky calling for jungle Jim and would you believe that jungle fella talked to that duck! Yes he did, he asked him about his beams and told that dumb duck he was throwing 7 gallons.

Seven gallons of what? Well, that wasn't the best, something else called a paper clip came on and said there was a bear in the grass taking pictures at 23 and 22. Well, I thought he meant there was a bear there and people were taking pictures of it, so I went racing up there to see it and wouldn't you know it the bear must have got scared and left because a state patrolman was sitting there.

Anyhow, as he was writing up my speeding ticket, I told him I came down to see the bear everyone was taking pictures of and boy did he get upset! Well, he let me go on but as I was driving away someone came on the radio and said they had spotted a bear in the air at 23 and River Road. Oh my God, I thought, he has stolen my airplane, so off I went again.

Boy, I was really moving, I guess I had the screwdriver down, as they say on CB but as I looked up in the mirror I saw nine patrol cars with their lights on and following me. Boy did I feel important, here I was leading the chase for a known criminal, a dangerous animal who had stolen an airplane. My happiness was short lived though, the bear in the air was the paw of the law and it turned out I was not the chaser but the chassee. The judge said thirty days or thirty dollars, I said thanks, I could really use the thirty dollars. So — I spent thirty of his twenty.

No new solo students this week, yet. Duke Stapleton received his private pilots license though and everyone will be happy to know, so did Norm Singleton of Ashville and that makes the highways safer. I've got some dedicated students. One whose name I can't mention, got a model airplane wheel stuck in his nose when just a child. Could he have invented the nose wheel. Maybe the saying, "your nose to wheel?" O.K., so forget it! TILL LATER.

Fire Chief
Warns Of City Burning

Circleville Fire Chief Mike Brown issued a warning today to the residents of Circleville and surrounding areas that it is strictly against both a city ordinance and the EPA regulations to have fires within the city limits and within the one-mile radius of the city.

Brown also said that citizens disobeying this regulation can be arrested.

The fire department made two calls Thursday. At 10 a.m., a trash fire was reported at 171 Lancaster Pike. No damage was reported.

A loose wire in the fuse box caused a fire at the Joyce Lutz home in Riffle's Trailer Park. The fire was reported to the fire department at 7:25 p.m. Only light damages were reported.

Memorial Airport News

Hi Dere! Boy I found out the airport isn't the only place where strange things happen around here! A few days ago I was driving a friend's car up 23 and since he had one of those Citizen Band radios in it I turned it on.

The first thing I heard was a rubber ducky calling for jungle Jim and would you believe that jungle fella talked to that duck! Yes he did, he asked him about his beams and told that dumb duck he was throwing 7 gallons.

Seven gallons of what? Well, that wasn't the best, something else called a paper clip came on and said there was a bear in the grass taking pictures at 23 and 22. Well, I thought he meant there was a bear there and people were taking pictures of it, so I went racing up there to see it and wouldn't you know it the bear must have got scared and left because a state patrolman was sitting there.

Anyhow, as he was writing up my speeding ticket, I told him I came down to see the bear everyone was taking pictures of and boy did he get upset! Well, he let me go on but as I was driving away someone came on the radio and said they had spotted a bear in the air at 23 and River Road. Oh my God, I thought, he has stolen my airplane, so off I went again.

Boy, I was really moving, I guess I had the screwdriver down, as they say on CB but as I looked up in the mirror I saw nine patrol cars with their lights on and following me. Boy did I feel important, here I was leading the chase for a known criminal, a dangerous animal who had stolen an airplane. My happiness was short lived though, the bear in the air was the paw of the law and it turned out I was not the chaser but the chassee. The judge said thirty days or thirty dollars, I said thanks, I could really use the thirty dollars. So — I spent thirty of his twenty.

No new solo students this week, yet. Duke Stapleton received his private pilots license though and everyone will be happy to know, so did Norm Singleton of Ashville and that makes the highways safer. I've got some dedicated students. One whose name I can't mention, got a model airplane wheel stuck in his nose when just a child. Could he have invented the nose wheel. Maybe the saying, "your nose to wheel?" O.K., so forget it!

TILL LATER.

Fire Chief Warns Of City Burning

Circleville Fire Chief Mike Brown issued a warning today to the residents of Circleville and surrounding areas that it is strictly against both a city ordinance and the EPA regulations to have fires within the city limits and within the one-mile radius of the city.

Brown also said that citizens disobeying this regulation can be arrested.

The fire department made two calls Thursday. At 10 a.m., a trash fire was reported at 171 Lancaster Pike. No damage was reported.

A loose wire in the fuse box caused a fire at the Joyce Lutz home in Riffle's Trailer Park. The fire was reported to the fire department at 7:25 p.m. Only light damages were reported.

Well, Mom, better get that uniform washed and ironed and begin thinking about the early suppers because the "big kid" of the house will be in the spotlight once again when the Circleville Youth Baseball Mosquito League, Little League Minors and Little League Majors will all respond to the call of "Play Ball" Monday evening.

The three smaller leagues are starting early this year in an effort to wrap their seasons up by the early part of July in order to help the families make vacation plans.

Pony League and Babe Ruth League games will begin May 31 or June 1.

This is an important part of these youngsters summers—So as parents or just fans, let's allow them to set a good example for us to follow.

These young people very seldom show any signs of poor sportsmanship and we are truly sorry to state that this is not always the case with the adults.

Just remember — they are playing for the fun of playing and are always trying their best. They are not big leaguers — So please don't judge them along these lines. If they make an error or strike out—Don't criticize them—They feel bad enough already.

Youngsters are born mimics—And will usually follow the example of the adults—So let's all make sure that we attempt to help them—Not hurt them with bad manners or action.

Another thing that we must all keep in mind is the fact that the men who donate their time to umpire these games are not paid and endeavor to do the best job possible — So let's be good sports and give pats on the back — Not verbal abuse to these men in blue. Incidentally, umpires are still needed for the summer program and anyone can help by calling Joe Smith, 474-4129.

This is the kid's game — Let's allow them to have it — And we'll all feel better about it.

Don't forget that Saturday the finals of the South Central Ohio League track meet will be held at the all-weather facilities at Circleville High School and this is one of the sport highlights of the year.

The weatherman has promised us a beautiful day and eight boys teams and seven girls teams will be out there to put on a show and keep you on the edge of your seats.

If you are a track fan, you know how exciting it can be—And if you have not yet joined the track fan ranks, tomorrow is the day to get started.

Things will get underway beginning at 10 a.m. and end sometime in the afternoon — Bring the family — It's a nice outing and the Circleville Athletic Booster Club has informed us that they will have plenty of good food and drink on hand to satisfy all appetites — We'll be there — Hope you will too.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Circleville Tigers of coach Jim Lint will win their seventh consecutive SCOL championship.

Celtics Turn Back Cavaliers, 111-99

BOSTON (AP) — The mighty Boston Celtics are off and running in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference championship playoff, and there's no doubt Cleveland's upstart Cavaliers have their work cut out.

The Celtics built a whopping 16-point lead in the first half, withstood a furious Cleveland comeback for a 77-77 tie after three periods and then exploded in the final quarter for a 111-99 victory Thursday night in the best-of-seven series opener.

The third game of the Western Conference final playoffs will be played tonight at Phoenix with the Suns and the Golden State Warriors tied at 1-1 in their best-of-seven series.

"We played well for about three quarters of the game," Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said. "In the third period we just played putridly. We let 'em back in the ball game, but we won and that's the big thing."

"No one thing plagued us more than another — unless it was the guys running around in the green and white uniforms," Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch said. "Without (injured) Jim Chones, we definitely are a different basketball team."

"But I didn't think we were going to fall dead. I honestly thought we could win. We had our chance and didn't get the job done. Fortunately, it's a seven-game series."

"We'll get together tomorrow (today), do some shooting and go over the films. We won't try to make any major changes. We'll just try to do our own things better in the next game Sunday."

Chones suffered a broken toe in practice Tuesday and is sidelined for the series. He watched from the bench, his right foot in a cast, while veteran Nate Thurmond was forced to play 39 minutes. Thurmond grabbed 16 rebounds, but scored only nine points.

Thurmond also held Boston center Dave Cowens to 14 points. However, forwards John Havlicek and Paul Silas scored 26 and 21 points, respectively, and Jo Jo White hit for 20 from the backcourt position.

"You don't break our spirit easily," said Dick Snyder after matching Cleveland teammate Campy Russell's 21-point production. "Nobody will quit. We'll just have to work harder Sunday."

Lakers Hand LE Girls First Loss

Logan Elm's girls softball team suffered its first setback Thursday when the Lakers of Millersport handed the Braves an 18-8 loss on the losers' diamond.

The loss drops the Braves into a first place tie in the Mid State League with Amanda-Clearcreek, a team they will play Thursday.

Judy Largent pitched for Miller-sport, allowing 18 hits, and walking one.

Babe Stump suffered the loss. She walked one, fanned one and gave up 24 hits.

Carla Roof led the Braves with a home run and a single. Diane Martin hit a homer, Beth Bell and Babe Stump each cracked a triple and a single. Also hitting were Diane Weaver, two doubles and a single, Joyce Pine, three singles, Jackie Cave a single, Anette Roof, three singles, Krista Gifford, one single, and Terri Ebert, one single.

The Braves play Bloom Carroll Monday at 4:30 p.m. and host Amanda-Clearcreek Thursday.

Vikings Nip Bobcats 2-1

Teays Valley chalked up another win Thursday night defeating host Grandview, 2-1, to even the Viking record in Metropolitan League play at 5-5. The Vikings are 7-14 overall.

Fans were treated to a pitchers' duel as the Viking's moundman Mark Messick and Bobcat Bob Reiterman each threw four-hitters. Messick walked three and fanned three, while Reiterman threw five and struck out two.

The Vikings, who have overcome a disastrous season start by winning several recent games, took the lead in the first inning when, with one out, Duane Keller walked, stole second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Ranie Wonnhas.

Grandview got their only run in the second, but Teays Valley picked up the run they needed in the fourth. This time Rusty Rathburn walked, took second and third on two infielders out and scored on Roger Bickers' single.

Bickers led the Viking attack with two singles; Keller and Wonnhas each hit a single.

The Vikings will host Bishop Ready Saturday in a double-header scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

Tiger Netters Top McClain 4-1

Circleville's tennis team defeated Greenfield 4-1 Thursday on the Tiger court.

Here are the results of the meet with the Tigers listed first.

Dave Crawford beat Eric Dienson, 6-1, 6-3.

Jeff Williams beat Kevin McNeal, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Jon Berlin lost to Jim Jones, 6-0, 6-7, 2-6.

Jim Edgington and Tim Dietrich beat Tim Smith and Marty Taylor, 6-3, 6-4.

Chip Follis and Mark Beck defeated Gary Pristas and Kevin Kern, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

In an exhibition match, Marc Rogols and Bob Bevan lost to Tim Smith and Larry Harry, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Circleville has a 7-9 record and will host Jackson 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well, Mom, better get that uniform washed and ironed and begin thinking about the early suppers because the "big kid" of the house will be in the spotlight once again when the Circleville Youth Baseball Mosquito League, Little League Minors and Little League Majors will all respond to the call of "Play Ball" Monday evening.

The three smaller leagues are starting early this year in an effort to wrap their seasons up by the early part of July in order to help the families make vacation plans.

Pony League and Babe Ruth League games will begin May 31 or June 1.

This is an important part of these youngsters summers—So as parents or just fans, let's allow them to set a good example for us to follow.

These young people very seldom show any signs of poor sportsmanship and we are truly sorry to state that this is not always the case with the adults.

Just remember — they are playing for the fun of playing and are always trying their best. They are not big leaguers — So please don't judge them along these lines. If they make an error or strike out—Don't criticize them—They feel bad enough already.

Youngsters are born mimics—And will usually follow the example of the adults—So let's all make sure that we attempt to help them—Not hurt them with bad manners or action.

Another thing that we must all keep in mind is the fact that the men who donate their time to umpire these games are not paid and endeavor to do the best job possible — So let's be good sports and give pats on the back — Not verbal abuse to these men in blue. Incidentally, umpires are still needed for the summer program and anyone can help by calling Joe Smith, 474-4129.

This is the kid's game — Let's allow them to have it — And we'll all feel better about it.

Don't forget that Saturday the finals of the South Central Ohio League track meet will be held at the all-weather facilities at Circleville High School and this is one of the sport highlights of the year.

The weatherman has promised us a beautiful day and eight boys teams and seven girls teams will be out there to put on a show and keep you on the edge of your seats.

If you are a track fan, you know how exciting it can be—And if you have not yet joined the track fan ranks, tomorrow is the day to get started.

Things will get underway beginning at 10 a.m. and end sometime in the afternoon — Bring the family — It's a nice outing and the Circleville Athletic Booster Club has informed us that they will have plenty of good food and drink on hand to satisfy all appetites — We'll be there — Hope you will too.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Circleville Tigers of coach Jim Lint will win their seventh consecutive SCOL championship.

Mets Chill Reds, 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — "If you had your choice, you would not exactly choose that situation," said Mets reliever Skip Lockwood.

"I mean one out, the tying run on second and Bench at the plate...that's not the best situation to enter a ball game."

But that's the way it was in the eighth inning Thursday when Lockwood, an American League vagabond who is finding a home in the New York Mets bullpen these days, came on in relief of Craig Swan against the mighty Cincinnati Reds. Swan nursed a 3-2 lead into the eighth and got one out before a single by Joe Morgan and a walk to Tony Perez brought Lockwood in from the bullpen.

Lockwood is no stranger to the Reds. Tuesday night, he relieved Tom Seaver with the bases loaded in the seventh and struck out Johnny Bench and Mike Lum in succession to preserve the New York victory. This time, he faced Bench again.

"In a situation like that, I have to go with my best pitch," said Lockwood, "so I threw fastballs. I didn't worry about who was up. I just tried to lock in on myself."

"My job is to throw strikes." He did his job. Three straight fastballs and a disgruntled Bench was on his way back to the dugout. George Foster followed with a fly ball to center and the Mets were out of the inning.

"Bench is just a super hitter," said Lockwood, a bespectacled 29-year-old right-hander in his seventh major league season. "Any time you get him out, you have to be happy. Even if you get him on a fly ball to the warning track, you have to be happy."

Lockwood faced five batters without incident in the game, threw just 14 pitches, and picked up his fourth save in only eight appearances.

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson was impressed.

"He did a fine job," said Anderson. "He is tough. And he doesn't waste much time, does he?"

Bench, not at all amused by an 0-for-4 afternoon that included two strikeouts, didn't have much to say. "I struck out again. I know I struck out again," bellowed Bench on his way to the showers. "I did it on purpose."

The Mets, currently tied with Philadelphia for first place in the National League East, scored three unearned runs in the first. Swan, 2-1 and Lockwood combined for a seven-hitter.

Wayne Garrett led off the first with a walk off Reds lefthander Don Gullett, 2-1, and took second on a wild pitch. Shortstop Dave Concepcion fielded Felix Millan's grounder, then dropped it for an error that put runners on first and third. One out later, Dave Kingman singled to left for a run—his 24th RBI of the year.

Jerry Grote flied out, but Ed Kranepool lofted a fly ball to left-center. Centerfielder Cesar Geronimo drifted under it, but the ball slid off his glove, allowing two runs to score. It was first ruled an error, but later changed to a two-base hit.

Concepcion tripled in the third and scored on a Pete Rose single, and Morgan belted his fifth homer of the season in the fifth to account for the Cincinnati offense.

Two heads, the saying goes, are better than one; and Ed Figueroa and Mickey Rivers proved it when they came up against Bobby Bonds Thursday night.

That trio was involved in one of last winter's big baseball trades, with Figueroa and Rivers coming East and Bonds going West. Rivers tripled and singled twice, scored two runs and stole two bases to lead a nine-hit New York attack in support of Figueroa, who combined with Sparky Lyle on a six-hitter as the Yankees beat California 4-2 and completed a three-game sweep of the Angels.

Minnesota at Detroit, the only other scheduled American League game, was rained out.

In the National League, the New York Mets downed the Cincinnati Reds 4-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the San Francisco Giants 3-0, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Atlanta Braves 5-4 and the San Diego Padres beat the Montreal Expos 4-1. The Los Angeles-Chicago game was postponed while Philadelphia and Houston were not scheduled.

"I wanted to make sure everybody knew the Yankees made the right trade," said Figueroa, who allowed four hits and struck out eight in 72-3 innings. "I was happy to beat them. Rivers and I discussed it earlier today and Mickey told me, 'You pitch as good as you can and I'll hit as good as I can.'"

Rivers singled on the first pitch of the game from Gary Ross, stole second and scored on Roy White's single. Then he started a decisive three-run uprising in the eighth with a triple, a line drive which right fielder Bonds misjudged.

At bat, Bonds flied out, grounded out fruitlessly with a runner at third and one out, struck out with two mates aboard and then walked and scored in the eighth.

Pirates 3, Giants 0
Jim Rooker and reliever Larry Demery combined on a fivehitter as the Pirates won their third in a row and handed the Giants their 10th loss in 11 games and fifth in a row. The Pirates scored a run off Jim Barr in the first inning on singles by Rennie Stennett and Richie Hebner and Al Oliver's sacrifice fly.

Rooker scored a run in the third when he beat out an infield single, advanced to third on another single by Stennett and scored when Hebner grounded into a forceout. Barr yielded the final run in the sixth on consecutive singles by Dave Parker, Richie Zisk and Duffy Dyer.

Cardinals 5, Braves 4
Vic Harris' two-run single highlighted a four-run fifth inning as the Cardinals handed the staggering Braves their 10th straight defeat. The Cards had six singles and a walk in the inning against winless Carl Morton. St. Louis added what proved to be the winning run in the eighth on Willie Crawford's single and Don Kessinger's double.

The Braves scored twice in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Marty Perez and Jimmy Wynn's single as the Cards used five pitchers before getting the third out when Al Hrabosky fanned Lee Lacy with two runners aboard.

Padres 4, Expos 1
Dan Spillner scattered four hits in eight innings and Dave Winfield contributed three hits, including a second-inning homer. Winfield homered in the second inning to tie the game 1-1 — Jerry White homered for the Expos in the first — and then scored the winning run in the fourth. The Padres added two runs in the ninth. With two out, Fred Kendall singled, Spillner walked and Jerry Turner and Tito Fuentes followed with RBI singles.

Ken Kuhn Signs With Cincy Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ken Kuhn, an All-Big 10 linebacker who was a three-year starter for Ohio State, has become the third rookie to sign with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

The 6-foot-1, 233-pound native of Louisville, Ohio was a seventh round draft choice of the Bengals.

Kuhn, 21, was a Buckeye cocaptain in 1975. He joins teammate Archie Griffin and Dartmouth linebacker Reggie Williams as the first rookies under contract with Cincinnati.

The Braves scored twice in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Marty Perez and Jimmy Wynn's single as the Cards used five pitchers before getting the third out when Al Hrabosky fanned Lee Lacy with two runners aboard.

Padres 4, Expos 1

Dan Spillner scattered four hits in eight innings and Dave Winfield contributed three hits, including a second-inning homer. Winfield homered in the second inning to tie the game 1-1 — Jerry White homered for the Expos in the first — and then scored the winning run in the fourth. The Padres added two runs in the ninth. With two out, Fred Kendall singled, Spillner walked and Jerry Turner and Tito Fuentes followed with RBI singles.

Ken Kuhn Signs With Cincy Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ken Kuhn, an All-Big 10 linebacker who was a three-year starter for Ohio State, has become the third rookie to sign with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

The 6-foot-1, 233-pound native of Louisville, Ohio was a seventh round draft choice of the Bengals.

Kuhn, 21, was a Buckeye cocaptain in 1975. He joins teammate Archie Griffin and Dartmouth linebacker Reggie Williams as the first rookies under contract with Cincinnati.

Wholesale Prices Spurt During April

The Circleville Herald, Friday May 7, 1976

15

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today a steep increase in farm prices pushed wholesale prices up eight-tenths of a per cent during April, marking the biggest gain in six months and signalling a sharper rise in the cost of living ahead.

The increase ended five months of relatively stable wholesale prices and was an abrupt break in the steady stream of upbeat economic reports this year.

Declining farm prices during the first three months of the year had held down the over-all wholesale price index. But in April, farm prices jumped 4.2 per cent while the index for processed foods was up 1.9 per cent.

This produced a 2.8 per cent increase in the agricultural sector.

Wholesale price changes eventually are reflected in retail prices, although there are time lags and relationships are not precise.

Industrial prices rose three-tenths of a per cent last month, continuing the moderating trend of recent months. However, the April report did not reflect recently announced increases for steel and other products which will show up later as they work their way through the wholesale price chain.

Economists consider industrial prices a more reliable barometer of basic inflationary trends rather than farm prices which often move erratically.

The Ford administration has warned that the sharp slowdown in both wholesale and consumer inflation during the first quarter could not be expected to continue.

April's eight-tenths of a per cent rise in the wholesale price index followed an increase of only two-tenths of a per cent in March and declines in both January and February. It was the sharpest monthly increase since October's 1.1 per cent rise.

White House economists expect an inflation rate at the consumer level of about 6 per cent this year, an improvement over the 7 per cent rise in 1975 and well below the sharp 12.2 per cent advance in 1974.

During the first three months of this year wholesale prices fell at an annual rate of 1.8 per cent while retail prices rose at an annual rate of 2.9 per cent, the smallest quarterly increase in almost four years.

In April, the wholesale price index stood at 181.3, up 5.3 per cent over a year earlier. That meant that goods selling at wholesale for $100 in the 1967 base period cost $181.30 last year.

Farm price increases were the largest in a year. The biggest increases were for livestock, eggs and coffee. However, there were some declines for grains, live poultry and milk.

The Labor Department said higher prices for beef, veal, fish and roasted coffee were largely responsible for a rise in the index for processed foods and feeds. Over the past year, farm products rose 8.6 per cent, while processed food and feeds were down eight-tenths of a per cent.

Industrial prices were up 6.1 per cent over the year.

Among price increases for industrial goods last month were a 2.1 per cent jump in costs for hides, skins and leather products; a 1.2 per cent rise for metals and metal products and a 1.5 per cent increase for nonmetallic mineral products. Higher prices also were reported for paper products, chemicals and rubber and plastic products.

Higher prices for gas fuels, electric power and crude petroleum more than offset declines for most refined petroleum products, the government said.

The category of wholesale prices related most directly to retail prices is the sector called consumer goods. These prices rose 1.4 per cent in April after declining in each of the previous three months.

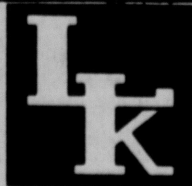

Wholesale prices of consumer foods, basically the prices paid by supermarkets, rose 3.9 per cent following steady declines since last October. The increase was the biggest in more than a year.

Thousands of anarchists, communists and labor agitators were arrested between 1919-20 by agents of the Department of Justice. Hundreds were deported to Russia.

Interest Renewed In Girls' Track

NATALIE MARTIN AND PAULA MOSLEY
TRACK CO-CAPTAINS

By SANDY ANGLES
CHS has seen a "come back" on the track field — a girls' track team. There had been a team three years ago, and now interest in one has increased. Joy O'Brien, the girls' sports coach, was able to initiate a girls' track program for the spring season. "The team this year is on a trial basis," explained Miss O'Brien. "It doesn't make any difference how many girls try out, there still will be one next year."

"We are a small and inexperienced team," commented Paula Mosley, one of the captains. "With a couple more years of interest, we should be more experienced." She competes in the 100, 220, and the hurdles.

Paula said she and Natalie Martin were chosen to be captains by the whole team. Their job is to lead the rest of their team in their specialized events. Paula's is the sprint.

"Even though we are inexperienced we put forth great effort," Natalie, the other captain, said. She competes in the 880 and the high jump. According to Natalie, Coach O'Brien doesn't treat her any differently than she does the rest of the team, but the coach does expect the captains to show guidance and answer any questions their fellow team members may have. Captains aren't treated differently by the other teammates either, which Natalie likes.

Both girls felt that even though this is Coach O'Brien's first year with track, she has learned a lot. "She is very interested in us and pushes us along," commented Paula.

Geography Students To Restore Cemetery

JOHN FRERICKS AT
EVANS CEMETERY

Students of Richard Billman's World Geography class will soon restore the local Evans Cemetery located on the historic Montelius Farm southeast of Circleville.

Since the land is overgrown with trees and weeds, a major clearing will need to be done before the real restoration begins. Restoration will include: sectioning off the land, replacing damaged stones, cleaning stones with acid solution, placing wooden markers where the stones have been destroyed and making preparation for enclosure of the entire cemetery with steel fence.

Some of the interesting facts of the Farm and Cemetery are as follows:

The Montelius Farm was settled 180 years ago by Caleb Evans, the first non-Indian settler in this region.

Along the Scippo Creek banks around the farm, Indians fashioned arrow and spear points, many Indian artifacts have been accumulated through the years.

New Student Welcomed

RIC FULLER

By SUSAN SIMISON
New student at CHS this month is Ric Fuller. Ric comes from Northland High School in Columbus. He commented that Northland had more subjects to offer than CHS but the students here are friendly.

"I enjoy playing basketball, shooting guns, and riding horses," said Ric. Some of his favorite rock groups are Queens, Kiss, Bad Company, and Moody Blues.

Ric lives with his brother, Lee Fuller, at 1194 Atwater Avenue. Ric has four sisters, four brothers, and a dog.

In The Know Team Ends Good Season

By LISA LEAHY
A successful season of the Circleville In-the-Know team ended after their defeat by a sharp Delaware Hayes team in the quarter finals April 26.

Circleville defeated Bexley in October, St. Charles in December, and Marion Franklin in March. They were one of the three CHS In-the-Know teams to have proceeded to the quarter finals in Circleville's history.

The team was led by senior and three-year member Gloria Alvarez, who was responsible for the literature category. Other members of the team were Richard Boulden, who specialized in history and geography, and Matt Sauer and Dan Smith, who covered current events and the art field.

Members of the reserve team were Arthur Whitfield, David Uland, Randy Wolfe, and Kurt Hoffman.

Advisors for the team were Mrs. Carol Mader, who teaches Spanish and French at CHS, and Wallace Higgins, Circleville's world history teacher.

Although this year's In-the-Know season is finished, the team is still practicing three times a week, and an orientation for freshmen interested in trying out for the 1976-77 team is being planned for the near future. The tryouts will be held sometime next fall with the first game being scheduled for December.

Sea Scenes Set Stage For Junior-Senior Prom

By LESLIE RIED
Sunken ships, sea horses, and palm trees will set the scene for the 1976 prom.

Chairmen have been busy working on decorations to fit this year's theme, a dock shaded with palm trees, leads over water and into a portal that opens into the dream world of "Treasure Island."

In the center of the gym will be an island studded with palm trees and a treasure chest.

The walls will depict many ocean scenes, such as ships, sunsets, and islands. The ceiling will follow the theme with hanging objects such as sea weed, sea-horses, and fishnets.

A hut is being built for the refreshment stand. The refreshments may be eaten at the many tables which will be arranged along the sides of the gym, trimmed with seashells and candles.

"Divine Comedy," a band that plays at both the Agora and the Castle, will entertain prom goers. They will be performing amidst a "ship-wreck".

Chairman Betsy Ankrom says, "Things are coming along well. Steve Lust has really been a great help!"

Chairmen for prom committees are Pam Pontious, entrance; Chris Milstead, center; Debbie Everhart, walls; Jeff Davies, ceiling; Mary Fanale, refreshments; Kelly Steele, tables; Debbie Butler, bandstand.

Prom will be held next Saturday at 8 p.m. in the CHS gymnasium.

Interest Renewed In Girls' Track

Moore Plays In All-Star Cage Classic

NATALIE MARTIN AND PAULA MOSLEY
TRACK CO-CAPTAINS

By SANDY ANGLES

CHS has seen a "come back" on the track field — a girls' track team. There had been a team three years ago, and now interest in one has increased. Joy O'Brien, the girls' sports coach, was able to initiate a girls' track program for the spring season.

"The team this year is on a trial basis," explained Miss O'Brien. "It doesn't make any difference how many girls try out, there still will be one next year."

"We are a small and inexperienced team," commented Paula Mosley, one of the captains. "With a couple more years of interest, we should be more experienced." She competes in the 100, 220, and the hurdles.

Paula said she and Natalie Martin were chosen to be captains by the whole team. Their job is to lead the rest of their team in their specialized events. Paula's is the sprint.

"Even though we are inexperienced we put forth great effort," Natalie, the other captain, said. She competes in the 880 and the high jump. According to Natalie, Coach O'Brien doesn't treat her any differently than she does the rest of the team, but the coach does expect the captains to show guidance and answer any questions their fellow team members may have. Captains aren't treated differently by the other teammates either, which Natalie likes.

Both girls felt that even though this is Coach O'Brien's first year with track, she has learned a lot. "She is very interested in us and pushes us along," commented Paula.

Geography Students To Restore Cemetery

JOHN FRERICKS AT
EVANS CEMETERY

Students of Richard Billman's World Geography class will soon restore the local Evans Cemetery located on the historic Montelius Farm southeast of Circleville.

Since the land is overgrown with trees and weeds, a major clearing will need to be done before the real restoration begins. Restoration will include: sectioning off the land, replacing damaged stones, cleaning stones with acid solution, placing wooden markers where the stones have been destroyed and making preparation for enclosure of the entire cemetery with steel fence.

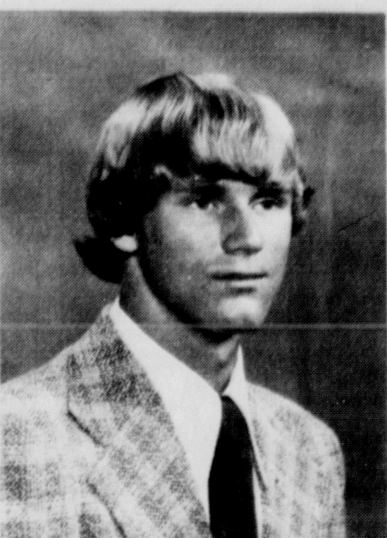

Some of the interesting facts of the Farm and Cemetery are as follows:

The Montelius Farm was settled 180 years ago by Caleb Evans, the first non-Indian settler in this region.

Along the Sippico Creek banks around the farm, Indians fashioned arrow and spear points, many Indian artifacts have been accumulated through the years.

New student at CHS this month is Ric Fuller. Ric comes from Northland High School in Columbus. He commented that Northland had more subjects to offer than CHS but the students here are friendly.

"I enjoy playing basketball, shooting guns, and riding horses," said Ric. Some of his favorite rock groups are Queens, Kiss, Bad Company, and Moody Blues.

In The Know Team Ends Good Season

By LISA LEAHY

A successful season of the Circleville In-the-Know team ended after their defeat by a sharp Delaware Hayes team in the quarter finals April 26.

Circleville defeated Bexley in October, St. Charles in December, and Marion Franklin in March. They were one of the three CHS In-the-Know teams to have proceeded to the quarter finals in Circleville's history.

The team was led by senior and three-year member Gloria Alvarez, who was responsible for the literature category. Other members of the team were Richard Boulden, who specialized in history and geography, and Matt Sauer and Dan Smith, who covered current events and the art field.

Members of the reserve team were Arthur Whitfield, David Uland, Randy Wolfe, and Kurt Hoffman.

Advisors for the team were Mrs. Carol Mader, who teaches Spanish and French at CHS, and Wallace Higgins, Circleville's world history teacher.

Although this year's In-the-Know season is finished, the team is still practicing three times a week, and an orientation for freshmen interested in trying out for the 1976-77 team is being planned for the near future. The tryouts will be held sometime next fall with the first game being scheduled for December.

Williamsport News

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, Phone 986-3481

Greetings to you all from room 9 bed 1, Berger Hospital. I guess I should never have written about festival frenzy fever because it and a few other things caught up to me with a bang on Tuesday.

Understandably this will be a brief column, but there are three important items I need to inform you about.

Number one: A lady's necklace watch with a blue face was lost during the Deercreek Dam Days.

Number two: A license plate for an automobile - A180 - also was lost and if found contact Clydus P. Aldenderfer Jr. 474-1579, 338 Watt St., Circleville.

Number three: a lady's white gold wrist watch was lost and there is a reward for finding it. If either watch is found please return to my home at 402 S. Water St. in Williamsport and leave your name, address and telephone number so when I leave here, proper contact can be made with all parties concerned.

A sentimental and precious necklace was also lost during Dam Days but it was found and returned to a very happy owner. The young fellow who found it is to be highly commended. Let us hope these other three lost articles will get back with the rightful owners.

There are so many, many persons to be thanked for a truly tremendous festival. I beg your indulgence until the "ole bod" snaps into driving gear. Right now I am definitely on park.

The personnel here in Berger is top notch and the community of Circleville and Pickaway County can point with pride to the hospital facilities.

My roommate, Edna Sadler, is a living doll which makes the hospital stay more pleasant if being confined to bed has any pleasant moments. Being alive is one.

My energy switch feels all "zapped out" so . . .

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care.

Think About: When saying your prayers put in a word for me.

Medicaid Fund Crisis Reviewed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's nearly depleted fund for Medicaid reimbursements represents a crisis that exists on the welfare department's own books, at least for now, a select legislative committee has decided.

The Senate-House panel named to review the health care program made that determination Thursday and asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to delay until June 30 any of the previously announced cuts in nursing home and other program payments. Rhodes' office said the request, put into a resolution, had not been received late Thursday.

As it now stands, the payments will be reduced starting May 15.

Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, cochairman of the six-member committee, said the cuts would do nothing to help in the search for $40 million to $50 million needed to carry the Medicaid program through the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Shoemaker said several avenues are open for exploration, but that there is no need for hasty action because of the lag between the time services are rendered and the time at which bills from health care providers must be paid—usually about 100 days.

Thus, he explained, any bills received now would not have to be paid until well beyond the start of the state's new fiscal year July 1. The legislature has $128 million in unappropriated welfare funds which are earmarked for the 1976-1977 fiscal year. Decisions as to how those funds might be allocated among various welfare programs are yet to be made, Shoemaker said.

Earlier, William Stone, director of the department's fiscal affairs division, testified before the committee that the program has only about $21.5 million remaining from $429 million the legislature appropriated for health care services in the current fiscal year.

At the rate of current billings, he said "we're going to run out of money within the next 10 days or two weeks." Stone said the program actually had only $421.2 million available this year as a result of the across-the-board, 2 per cent budget cut imposed on state departments last July by the governor.

But he explained, in response to questions, that even if the cut (about $8.5 million) were restored by the governor, "it would only be enough to last about a week."

The committee, which meets again next Wednesday, is trying to help the department solve not only the Medicaid shortage for the current fiscal year, but also what looms as an even bigger problem, a shortage of up to $80 million, in the next fiscal year.

Some suggestions earlier this week by Richard G. Sheridan, director of the Legislative Budget Office, included a closer look at indicators showing the state may have more than it needs to meet Aid to Dependent Children payments next year, along with a possibility the legislature appropriated more funds for nursing homes in 1977 than will be needed.

found please return to my home at 402 S. Water St. in Williamsport and leave your name, address and telephone number so when I leave here, proper contact can be made with all parties concerned.

A sentimental and precious necklace was also lost during Dam Days but it was found and returned to a very happy owner. The young fellow who found it is to be highly commended. Let us hope these other three lost articles will get back with the rightful owners.

There are so many, many persons to be thanked for a truly tremendous festival. I beg your indulgence until the "ole bod" snaps into driving gear. Right now I am definitely on park.

The personnel here in Berger is top notch and the community of Circleville and Pickaway County can point with pride to the hospital facilities.

My roommate, Edna Sadler, is a living doll which makes the hospital stay more pleasant if being confined to bed has any pleasant moments. Being alive is one.

My energy switch feels all "zapped out" so...

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care.

Medicaid Fund Crisis Reviewed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's nearly depleted fund for Medicaid reimbursements represents a crisis that exists on the welfare department's own books, at least for now, a select legislative committee has decided.

The Senate-House panel named to review the health care program made that determination Thursday and asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to delay until June 30 any of the previously announced cuts in nursing home and other program payments. Rhodes' office said the request, put into a resolution, had not been received late Thursday.

As it now stands, the payments will be reduced starting May 15.

Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, cochairman of the six-member committee, said the cuts would do nothing to help in the search for $40 million to $50 million needed to carry the Medicaid program through the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Shoemaker said several avenues are open for exploration, but that there is no need for hasty action because of the lag between the time services are rendered and the time at which bills from health care providers must be paid—usually about 100 days.

Thus, he explained, any bills received now would not have to be paid until well beyond the start of the state's new fiscal year July 1. The legislature has $128 million in unappropriated welfare funds which are earmarked for the 1976-1977 fiscal year. Decisions as to how those funds might be allocated among various welfare programs are yet to be made, Shoemaker said.

Earlier, William Stone, director of the department's fiscal affairs division, testified before the committee that the program has only about $21.5 million remaining from $429 million the legislature appropriated for health care services in the current fiscal year.

At the rate of current billings, he said "we're going to run out of money within the next 10 days or two weeks." Stone said the program actually had only $421.2 million available this year as a result of the across-the-board, 2 per cent budget cut imposed on state departments last July by the governor.

But he explained, in response to questions, that even if the cut (about $8.5 million) were restored by the governor, "it would only be enough to last about a week."

The committee, which meets again next Wednesday, is trying to help the department solve not only the Medicaid shortage for the current fiscal year, but also what looms as an even bigger problem, a shortage of up to $80 million, in the next fiscal year.

Some suggestions earlier this week by Richard G. Sheridan, director of the Legislative Budget Office, included a closer look at indicators showing the state may have more than it needs to

No Progress In Driver Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No progress was reported in a three-company strike by readymix concrete truck drivers, but agreements have been signed by four central Ohio building trades unions.

Leslie H. Jones, executive secretary of the Associated General Contractors, Ohio Division said negotiators representing Ironworkers Local 172, Operating Engineers Local 18, Marble and Terrazzo Mechanics Local 55 and Marble and Terrazzo Helpers Local 58 had reached agreements with the contractors.

Attorney Charles Minor, a negotiator for the concrete companies said there had been no contract talks with Teamsters Local 413 since Monday and he said no talks were scheduled.

Teamsters negotiators rejected on Monday a pay offer made by three Columbus firms—Anderson Concrete Co., Arrow Concrete Co., and F.W. Slotter Inc.

Jones said contractors and ironworkers negotiators reached agreement Wednesday on a three-year pact which will replace the present one-year contract which expires May 31.

Ironworkers official Cecil Bosworth refused to say how much money was involved, but called the pact a "very good contract."

Operating Engineers Local 18, which covers the entire state, accepted a new one-year pact Tuesday. A union official in Cleveland said the contract, retroactive to May 11, provides for a 7 per cent across-the-board wage increase.

Jones said the two marble workers unions reached agreements on three-year contracts earlier in the week. The agreements replace two-year contracts which expired May 1.

Marathon Oil Sees Earnings Better

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Marathon Oil Co.'s earnings are expected to improve this year based on the strength of the firm's domestic and international activities, said Harold D. Hoopman, president.

Hoopman said the oil company's positive outlook was affected by an expected increase in its Yates, Tex. oil field; continued improvement in refined product sales, and gains from expansion of its Burghausen, West Germany refinery.

Hoopman said the company's net income of $35.5 million in the first quarter of 1976 amounts to about 1.6 cents per gallon profit on Marathon's worldwide sales of crude oil and refined products.

Robert E. McMillen, senior vice president for production in the U.S. and Canada, said the firm will continue offshore exploration and development and will increase onshore activities.
